INTRODUCTION

The Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) was established to ensure that low-income children and eligible, disabled adults continue to receive nutritious meals when school is not in session. Free meals, that meet Federal nutrition guidelines, are provided to all children and eligible, disabled adults at approved SFSP sites in areas with significant concentrations of low-income participants.

The SFSP operates during school vacations, primarily in the summer months – from May through September. It may also provide meals during vacation breaks where schools are operated on a year-round basis or a continuous school calendar, or during emergency school closures from October through April.

Who Administers The Program?

The U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) administers the SFSP at the national level. In Missouri, the program is administered by the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services (State agency). (Note: FNS administers the SFSP in Michigan, Virginia, and shares responsibility in New York with the State agency.)

Locally, public or private nonprofit organizations that want to “sponsor” the Program, apply and are approved by the State agency to operate the Program. These sponsoring organizations sign annual Program agreements with their State agency and are responsible for overseeing Program operations. Sponsors receive Federal reimbursement from the State agency to cover their administrative and operating costs of preparing and serving meals to eligible participants at one or more feeding sites.

ABOUT THIS GUIDANCE:

This publication provides information for staff of all local organizations that participate or plan to participate as sponsors in the Summer Food Service Program (SFSP). It consists of the following parts:

- PAGES 3 - 46 • PLANNING THE PROGRAM provides information to help guide potential sponsors through the early stages of program planning. This part includes information on eligibility requirements for sponsors, sites, and participants; evaluating and selecting feeding sites; determining the type of meal service to offer; staffing needs; and applying to operate the SFSP.
- PAGES 47 - 78 • ADMINISTERING THE PROGRAM outlines the administrative responsibilities of a sponsor in the areas of training, monitoring, civil rights, program payments, record keeping, reviews, and evaluations.
- PAGES 79 - 149 • REFERENCE SECTION provides sample copies of forms, worksheets, and other reference materials that may be helpful to sponsors in administering the Program.

Summer 2003

FNS and State agencies are engaged in a continued effort to increase participation in the SFSP. Did you know that the SFSP is one of the most needed but underused Federal food assistance programs? Out of 14 million eligible children that get free or reduced price school meals during the regular school year, only 2 million participate in the SFSP during the summer months. There are hungry children that we need to reach with this Program!

As an organization interest in learning about the SFSP, you are the link that translates this Federal benefit into meals for children. If you are new to the Program, please consider participating as a site or a sponsor. Returning sponsors: please consider adding sites and activities that draw children to your existing program. Let us know how we can help you in this important mission that we all share!

PART I -- PLANNING THE PROGRAM

Chapter 1 -- Eligibility

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- how to determine the eligibility of a participant;
- how to determine the eligibility of a sponsor; and
- the different kinds of Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) sites.

Participant Eligibility

(7 CFR 225.2 Definitions, Attachment 1)

Children age 18 and under may receive meals through SFSP.

A person 19 years of age and over who has a mental or physical disability (as determined by a State or local educational agency) and who participates during the school year in a public or private nonprofit school program (established for the mentally or physically disabled) is also eligible to receive meals.

Sponsor Eligibility

(7 CFR 225.14(b),(c), and (d))

Every potential sponsor must meet certain requirements. These requirements are discussed below:

1. Types of Organizations - Only certain types of organizations can sponsor the Program. Sponsors must be one of these:

- a public or private nonprofit school food authority;
- a public or private nonprofit residential private camp;
- a public or private nonprofit college or university participating in the National Youth Sports Program
- a unit of local, county, municipal, State or Federal government; or,
- any other type of private nonprofit organization.

Note: special rules apply to private nonprofit organizations. They are limited as to the location of their sites, the total number of sites they may operate, and the maximum number of participants they may serve. All private nonprofit sponsors must be tax exempt under the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. State agencies can provide more specific details about the participation of private nonprofit organizations.

2. Sponsors Must Demonstrate Financial and Administrative Capability - Potential sponsors must demonstrate that they have the necessary financial and administrative capability to comply with Program requirements. They must accept final financial and administrative responsibility for all of their sites.
3. Sponsors Must Not Have Been Declared Seriously Deficient - To be approved, applicants must not have been declared seriously deficient in operating the program in previous years.
4. Sponsors Must Serve Low-Income Children and Eligible, Disabled Adults - Approved sponsors must agree to provide regularly scheduled meal service for children and/or eligible, disabled adults in designated low-income areas (called “areas in which poor economic conditions exist”) or they must agree to serve low-income participants. Camps do not need to meet this criterion.
5. Year-Round Service -Sponsors must provide a year-round public service to the area in which they intend to provide the SFSP. State agencies may grant exceptions to this year-round service requirement for sponsors of residential camps, migrant sites and in certain other limited circumstances.
6. Direct Operational Control Over Sites - New applicants and returning sponsors (not exempted by the State agency) must certify that they have direct operational control over all of their sites. Direct operational control means that the sponsor is responsible for managing site staff, including such areas as hiring, determining conditions of employment and termination, and for exercising management control over SFSP operations at sites during the period of program participation.
7. Pre-Operational Visits - Sponsors must certify that all new and problem sites have been visited and are capable of providing meal service for the number of participants as planned.
8. Written Agreements - Approved sponsors must sign a written agreement with the State agency.

Note:

Certain sponsor types will have to provide more specific information to be approved. (7 CFR 225.14(d)). Interested organizations should consult the State agency for more detailed information.

Management responsibilities cannot be delegated below the sponsor level. The quality of the meal service, the conduct of site personnel, and the adequacy of record keeping reflect directly upon the sponsor's performance. This performance is subject to audit by the State agency, by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's (USDA) Office of the Inspector General, and by the General Accounting Office.

Site Eligibility

(7 CFR 225.6(c)(2) and (3))

Sponsors may operate the SFSP at one or more sites, which are the actual locations where meals are served and participants eat in a supervised setting. Eligible sites are those that serve children or eligible, disabled adults in low-income areas or specific groups of low-income children or eligible, disabled adults. Sponsors must provide documentation that their proposed sites meet the income eligibility criteria required by law. The most common types of sites are: open sites; restricted open sites; and closed enrolled sites. There are also sites that serve special populations or have unique characteristics. These include: residential and nonresidential camps, migrant sites, and National Youth Sports Program (NYSP) sites. In the following section, we describe these sites and discuss how sponsors can document their eligibility. See Attachment 6 for a summary of site descriptions and ways to document site eligibility.

- 1. Open Sites (7 CFR 225.2 definitions, Attachment 1) are sites at which meals are made available to all children in the area.
- 2. Restricted Open Sites (7 CFR 225.2 definitions, Attachment 1) are initially open to broad community participation, but which the sponsor restricts or limits attendance for reasons of security, safety or control.

Open and restricted open sites serve participants in geographical areas where 50 percent or more of the children residing in the areas are eligible for free or reduced price school meals. This percentage must be documented by data provided by public and nonprofit private school officials, census data, welfare or education agencies, zoning commissions, or other appropriate sources.

Special Restricted Open Sites

Sites that are located in non-needy areas but otherwise meet the criteria for open site eligibility may be treated as restricted open sites. An example of this type of site is one that is located outside of a city in which all areas are eligible (based on school enrollment or census data); the children from the city are bused to the non-needy location without cost. To qualify as restricted open, these sites must:

- Draw participants exclusively from eligible areas;
- Be open to broad community participation from eligible areas – the only limits that can be imposed on participation are daily limits for reasons of security, safety, or control;
- Not charge a fee for participants to attend;
- Not allow participants from the surrounding non-needy area to attend.

- 3. A Closed Enrolled Site (7 CFR 225.2 definitions, Attachment 1) serves only identified groups of participants, as opposed to the community at large. At least 50 percent of the enrolled participants at the site must be eligible for free or reduced price school meals under the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) and the School Breakfast Program (SBP). Their eligibility is based on income applications. (See Attachment 3 for Income Eligibility Guidelines.)

Closed enrolled sites are usually established where:

- an identified group of needy participants live in a "pocket of poverty";
- identified low-income participants are transported to a congregate meal site located in an area with less than 50 percent eligible children; or
- a program providing recreational, cultural, religious, or other types of organized activities for a specific group of participants. Accredited summer schools do not qualify as closed enrolled sites and should obtain reimbursement for their meals under the National School Lunch Program.

Documenting Site Eligibility

1. Documenting an Area for Open or Restricted Open Site

Eligibility: The two primary sources of data that may be used to determine whether the area that will be served is eligible are school data or census data.

School Data: Generally, sponsors will find it most helpful to directly contact their local school district in order to obtain the current year free and reduced price data to document the need of the area they wish to serve. In most cases, current-year school data provide the most accurate representation of an area's current economic circumstances. When sponsors use school data, they must contact the school (or schools) serving the children who live in the area where they intend to offer the SFSP. The local public school district and nonprofit private schools serving the area can then provide sponsors with the number of children who are eligible for free and reduced price National School Lunch Program and/or School Breakfast Program meals and the total enrollment(s) of the school(s). Sponsors may use data from nearby elementary, middle, or high schools to qualify sites.

The sponsor must then submit to the State agency, as part of the application process, the following information to document the eligibility for each site they intend to serve:

- the names of the public and nonprofit private schools used to establish eligibility;
- the number (but not names) of all children eligible for free and reduced price meals who are enrolled in those schools; and
- the total number of children enrolled in those schools.

The State agency will determine the eligibility of each proposed site located in the area based on the data submitted by the sponsor. Since the local school or district offices must certify that the data is accurate, sponsors should ask local schools or districts to provide the necessary figures on school or district stationery, with the signature of an authorized school official.

Census Data: Sponsors may also document the area eligibility of their proposed open or restricted open sites on the basis of census data. However, we encourage sponsors to use school data rather than census data because it is usually more current, and therefore, more accurately represents current neighborhood economic conditions. The 2000 census is still being tabulated. Thus, for the time being, the 1990 census data remains the most current for documenting area eligibility.

A computerized special tabulation of relevant 1990 census data, developed for USDA by the Bureau of the Census, was provided to State agencies along with detailed instructions for its use. This special tabulation provides for each census "block group" (sub-units of census tracts) in each State, the number and percentage of children, ages 0-18, in households with income below 185 percent of poverty. Sponsors wishing to use census data should request assistance and specific step-by-step guidance from their State agency.

Although we encourage sponsors to use school data over census data, there may be certain circumstances that warrant the use of census data to establish area eligibility even when current-year local school data is available. Some of these circumstances include:

- The potential site is located in a rural area, where geographically large elementary school attendance areas obscure localized pockets of poverty which can be identified through the use of census "block group" data.

- Available current-year school data shows an area to be close to, but under, the 50 percent threshold, and the "block group" data may reveal specific portions of the school's attendance area which are SFSP eligible.
- Mandatory busing has affected the percentage of free and reduced price eligibles in neighborhood schools, and the school is unable to "factor out" the pupils bused in from other areas and provide the sponsor with data on the percentage of free and reduced price eligibles living in the school's immediate neighborhood.

In any of these circumstances, use of the local "block group" data contained in the computerized special tabulation may help the State agency assist sponsors to more precisely document the area eligibility of their proposed sites.

2. Documenting Closed Enrolled Site Eligibility

Sponsors can document an enrolled site's eligibility by:

- Obtaining lists of names and eligibility status of enrolled participants for free and reduced price meals from schools where the participants receive school lunch or breakfast; or
- Asking the parent or guardian of each enrolled participant to complete an income eligibility form. At least 50 percent of the enrolled participants must be from households that meet the income eligibility guidelines (See Attachment 9).

Note: Recent changes in the law allow all sponsors to use school-based eligibility information to document an enrolled site's eligibility for the SFSP. The local School Food Authority (SFA) may be unaware of this change and that parental consent forms are not required in order to provide this information to SFSP sponsors. The SFA is not required to provide this information, however, sponsors that have encountered resistance from their local SFA should contact their State agency.

Whichever method is used to document eligibility of closed enrolled sites, sponsors must demonstrate that at least 50 percent of the enrolled participants meet the income eligibility criteria for free or reduced price meals. As part of the application process, sponsors of closed enrolled sites must provide the State agency with:

- a statement of how they intend to document SFSP eligibility, using either the income eligibility list(s) provided by schools or individual eligibility forms;
- an estimate of the total number of participants enrolled at the site; and
- an estimate of the number of participants enrolled at the site who are documented as eligible for free or reduced price school meals .

Sponsors of closed enrolled sites must have the following information on file at the site:

- records of the total number of participants enrolled at the site; and
 - list(s) of income eligible participants provided by the school system;
- or
- the actual eligibility forms for income eligible participants.

Income Eligibility Forms

(7 CFR 225.15(f))

- Using the Income Eligibility Form:

The Income Eligibility Form, found in Attachment 9, is a multi-program prototype that was designed by USDA/FNS to determine the income eligibility of applicants for Child Nutrition Programs. For the SFSP, the Income Eligibility Form may be used by closed enrolled sites and camps to determine the income eligibility of enrolled participants. The information collected on the Income Eligibility Form includes household size and household income or the case number for benefits received under the Food Stamp Program; the Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF); or the Food Distribution Program on Indian Reservations (FDPIR). Sponsors may also use alternate forms developed by themselves or the State agency as long as the same information is captured as found on the Income Eligibility Form in Attachment 9.

- Using Head Start Eligibility Forms:

In some cases, sponsors can use documentation of income-eligible Head Start participants, provided and certified by a Head Start grantee, to document the eligibility of the SFSP closed enrolled sites. Sponsors should contact their State agency if they have questions on the use of Head Start eligibility forms for this purpose.

Here are some examples of acceptable use of Head Start forms:

- ⇒ a school food authority sponsoring SFSP that uses automatic eligibility for Head Start enrollees for school meal programs;

- ⇒ a community action agency that operates several programs, including SFSP and Head Start; or
- ⇒ a local government agency that operates Head Start during the school year and sponsors SFSP during the summer.

- Workforce Investment Act Participation:

Applicants that participate in the Workforce Investment Act (WIA) program are considered categorically income-eligible for the SFSP. The WIA, which replaced the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) program in July 2000, is designed to link local labor market needs and community youth programs and service. For purposes of establishing SFSP eligibility, sponsors must obtain either:

- ⇒ a signed free and reduced price SFSP meal application with a notation that the applicant is a WIA participant; or
- ⇒ a list containing the names and ages of individual WIA participants enrolled at that site and signed by a WIA official.

Additional Documentation
Sources

If sponsors are unable to document the need of their area or site(s) by using sources such as current-year school data, recent census tract or block group data, enrollment data, or serving migrant children, they should consult with their State agency about the possibility of using other types of data (e.g., local zoning data, housing authority information, economic surveys, etc.) to document their site(s) eligibility.

Also, sponsors offering the program at sites located on Indian reservations may obtain and submit statistics on the population from one of the 12 Bureau of Indian Affairs area offices.

Frequency of
Site Eligibility
(7 CFR 225.6(c)
(3) (i)(B))

Sponsors whose open or open restricted sites have qualified on the basis of school data must submit documentation every three years. If a sponsor has used census data in previous years, then documentation need only be submitted when new census data is available, unless the State agency requests more recent data from another source. Sponsors using other data sources must document site eligibility annually.

Special Types of Sites

1. Camps Residential and Nonresidential

(7 CFR 225.2 definitions, 225.6(c)(2)(i)(J), and 225.6(c)(3)(i)(D)) -

Residential summer camps and nonresidential day camps that offer a regularly scheduled food service as part of an organized camping program for enrolled children may participate. In addition, nonresidential day camps must offer a continuous schedule of organized cultural or recreational programs for enrolled children and can only participate as sites under eligible sponsoring organizations.

Unlike other types of sites, camps do not have to establish income eligibility at the 50 percent level, which open, restricted open or closed enrolled sites must do. Instead, camps are reimbursed only for meals served to children who meet the income eligibility criteria.

In order to determine enrolled children's eligibility, State agencies may require camp sponsors to use the Income Eligibility Form (Attachment 9) or a State agency equivalent form. Please see the discussion on page 10 about income eligibility forms.

Sponsors of camps are not required to submit the individual households' approved eligibility forms to the State agency. However, they must maintain the original approved forms for all eligible children in separate files for each camp session. In addition, the forms must be available for review by the State agency.

Sponsors of residential and nonresidential camps must provide the State agency with the number of children enrolled in each session at each camp site who have been determined eligible for reimbursable SFSP meals. This information must be submitted at the time the sponsor's claim for reimbursement is submitted or at an earlier time specified by the State agency.

Camp sponsors receive reimbursement only for meals served to campers who have been individually determined eligible for free or reduced price school meals.

2. Migrant Sites (7 CFR 225.6(c)((2)(i)(K))

Migrant sites are eligible for participation in the SFSP. To confirm migrant status, sponsors must submit information obtained from a migrant organization which certifies that the site serves children of migrant workers to document its eligibility. If the site also serves non-migrant participants, the sponsor must certify that the site predominantly serves migrant children.

Sponsors of migrant sites are reimbursed for program meals served to ALL attending children.

3. NYSP Sites (7 CFR 225.2 definitions and 225.6(c)(2)(i)(I))

A National Youth Sports Program (NYSP) site may qualify for the program by:

- Determining that 50 percent of the children enrolled reside in geographical areas where poor economic conditions exist;
- Determining that 50 percent of the children enrolled meet the income eligibility guidelines for free or reduced price school meals; or
- Certifying in writing that it meets the income eligibility guidelines of the Department of Health and Human Services (DHHS), which is the primary grantor for NYSP.

The DHHS income eligibility standards for participation in NYSP are stricter than those used to determine eligibility for free or reduced price meals. To qualify for participation in NYSP under DHHS rules, at least 90 percent of the enrolled children must be at or below the Federal income poverty guidelines. Thus, if a site meets this standard and qualifies for DHHS funding, then it will qualify for participation in the SFSP as well.

In addition to certifying in writing that the site meets DHHS income eligibility guidelines, sponsors must review NYSP records to verify that the information is correct.

4. Continuous School Calendar /Year-Round Sites (7 CFR 225.2 Definitions)

A “continuous school calendar” is defined in the SFSP regulations as a situation in which all or part of the student body of a schools is (a) on a vacation for periods of 15 continuous school days or more during October through April and (b) in attendance at regularly scheduled classes during most of May through September.

Some school districts use a calendar that provides less than 15 days for off-track periods. In these situations, State agencies may waive the 15-continuous school day requirement provided that the school system is operating regular class sessions (i.e., not summer school or remedial classes for a portion of the student body) on a year-round basis.

When schools operate on a year-round, or continuous school calendar, the SFSP may offer meals throughout the year to pre-school children and off-track students (i.e., year-round students on vacation at times other than the summer). These sites may be open or closed enrolled sites, located in the school or at other locations.

If operated as an open site at a location other than the school, the meal service must be open to the entire community and must be eligible based on school or census data. In these situations, sponsors are not expected to exclude on-track students, that is, students that are attending school and are not on vacation. Sponsors should plan for or prepare for additional meals and consider adding more site staff to supervise the meal service.

If the site is operating as closed enrolled, meals may be served only to enrolled preschool children and off-track students (at least 50 percent of enrolled participants must be eligible for free or reduced price school meals).

If a year-round site is located in the school, sponsors must be careful not to “double claim” meals or claim SFSP rates for meals served to on-track students participating in the NSLP. Schools that operate both year-round SFSP and school lunch or school breakfast should establish different meal services for the year-round and on-track populations, keep separate meal counts, and develop cost allocation plans for proper proration of overhead and administrative costs between the programs.

5. Upward Bound Programs

In some cases, Upward Bound programs may be eligible for participation in the SFSP. Sponsors can use documentation of income-eligible Upward Bound participants, provided and certified by an Upward Bound grantee, to document the eligibility of the SFSP closed enrolled sites, residential or non-residential camps. Upward Bound income applications may be used in lieu of the Income Eligibility Form (IEF) to determine income eligibility for all SFSP participants. For example, an income eligible Upward Bound participant is considered income eligible in the SFSP while an Upward Bound participant who is not income eligible for that program would not be considered income eligible in the SFSP. Sponsors should contact their State agency if they have questions on the use of Upward Bound eligibility forms for this purpose.

Sponsor
Participation
in Other Child
Nutrition Programs

The Special Milk Program

Sponsors may elect to operate the SFSP at some of their sites while operating the Special Milk Program (SMP) at other sites. However, a single site cannot simultaneously participate in the SFSP and the SMP.

Sponsors electing to administer the SMP must enter into a separate agreement with the State agency to operate the SMP at those sites or at those times when they are not participating in the SFSP. The State agency can provide information on operating the SMP.

Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP)

CACFP institutions which have sufficient changes in their activities or enrollment or develop a separate food service program for children who are not enrolled in their CACFP, and meet SFSP eligibility criteria, may be approved to participate in the SFSP. Institutions which are approved for both the CACFP and the SFSP must ensure that the same children are not served meals in both programs. Separate records must be kept for each program.

For more information about child nutrition programs, visit the Food and Nutrition Service website at: www.fns.usda/fns.

How Does the SFSP
Work in Summer School?

If a sponsor intends to operate the Program at a site where an accredited summer school program is in session, the sponsor must ensure that the food service is open to all children residing in the area served by the site. If a summer school site is not open to the children of the community and provides meals only to enrolled summer school students, the site is not eligible to participate in the SFSP. In this situation, the meals may be reimbursed through the National School Lunch Program and School Breakfast Program.

If a school is only offering enrichment courses that are not considered part of the academic curriculum and do not require mandatory attendance, the school may be eligible to participate in the SFSP as an open or enrolled site.

Chapter 2--Evaluating and Selecting Sponsors and Sites

In this chapter, you will find specifics on:

- what to look for when selecting your program sites;
- your operating limitations;
- the Sponsor/Site agreement; and
- requirements to meet before you open the sites.

Priorities for Selection of Sponsors (7 CFR 225.6(b)(5))

Confusion and waste result when two or more sponsors compete for the same sites or for serving participants in the same geographical area. Since such an overlap in service conflicts with program objectives, the State agency usually approves only one sponsor to serve a target population. When determining which of the competing sponsors will serve a target population, the State agency must give priority to:

1. local school food authority sponsors;
2. government and private nonprofit organization sponsors that have successfully operated the Summer Food Service Program in a prior year;
3. new government sponsoring organizations; and
4. new private nonprofit organization sponsors.

Note: If you feel you have a unique situation, contact your State agency for additional assistance when competition poses a significant problem in your area.

Evaluating an Area

It is important that a sponsor adequately evaluate the needs and resources of the area(s) it hopes to serve prior to making final plans for site operations. In particular, a sponsor should try to determine the type and size of the program that would best meet the needs of the community. As part of the inquiry into the community's needs, a sponsor should:

- ask parks and recreation centers about their summer recreation programs;
- contact youth organizations, including YMCAs, YWCAs, Boys and Girls Clubs, and scout troops about their summer plans;
- contact your local food bank or pantry to ask about opportunities to partner in the community
- contact minority referral sources and relevant minority organizations in the prospective site area;

- contact other groups and organizations in the area that may be planning to participate in the SFSP;
- contact local parent groups to determine the level of parental support; and
- ensure that the site is eligible.

After sponsors have made these initial contacts in any area(s) they hope to serve, they will have an easier time evaluating different sites and deciding on the size of their operations. Sponsors will have to make three especially important decisions. They must:

- select the particular sites where they will serve meals to participants, closely examining the circumstances if they plan to have several sites in the same neighborhood;
- decide how many sites they will sponsor during the summer; and
- determine how many participants they will serve at each site they sponsor.

If sponsors take particular care in making these decisions before their programs start, they may be able to prevent problems that could arise later.

Consider consulting your State agency if you have further questions.

Selecting Sites

Since sponsors must assume administrative and financial responsibility for total program operations at all sites under their supervision, they must be certain that a site can offer a quality meal service before they decide to sponsor that site. The following paragraphs outline several major issues that should be considered when the sponsor evaluates sites. A Pre-Operational Site Review/Site Selection Worksheet is included in the Reference Section as Attachment 27 and may be useful to sponsors in determining a site's suitability.

Meal Service Facilities

Sponsors are responsible for choosing the most appropriate facilities available for food service. If sponsors prefer onsite meal preparation, they should visit all sites to:

- make sure that sites are properly equipped with the appropriate facilities and equipment for meal preparation and service for the anticipated number of participants; and
- check that sites can meet State and local public health standards and have or can obtain the required health department certification. The sanitation or health inspector from the local health department can assist in complying with State and local rules and regulations.

Because of the many variables at different sites, the kinds of equipment that will be needed will vary based on the number of participants being served and the type of menu being prepared. Attachment 8 provides a chart to assist in determining whether the equipment available is adequate. During the visit determine the condition of the equipment and, if appropriate, delegate responsibility for maintenance and repairs.

Whether a sponsor plans to have the meals prepared or delivered by a food service management company, school food service, or a central kitchen, the food preparation, holding and delivery capabilities should be checked.

Sponsors should determine whether meals will be served and consumed inside or outside. If regular meal service is outdoors, sponsors must make sure there is adequate indoor space for meal service during inclement weather.

Site Supervision

According to program meal service requirements, sponsors should assess how much supervision will be necessary to ensure proper program operations. These supervisory needs will differ from site to site.

Serving Capacity

Sponsors need to determine the maximum number of participants who can be served at any of the sites. When estimating the number of participants to be served at each site, you should consider three factors:

- the site's administrative capabilities;
- the physical capacity at each site for serving participants; and

- the number of participants living in the area of each site who are likely to participate.

The importance of estimating as accurately as possible the number of participants each site will serve cannot be overemphasized. You can plan your programs adequately only when you know approximately how many participants you will serve (and therefore about how much total potential reimbursement you will receive). An excellent way for you to find out the potential number of participants is by contacting schools and children's organizations in the areas of your sites. Then determine the number of needy participants within a short walking distance of the site.

Site Activities

If possible, select sites that offer organized activities during the day. In addition, you should determine whether there are any year-round public service programs in the community that might serve as sites. These sites will usually have facilities that can be used for the meal service and have a permanent staff.

Number of Sites

In addition to selecting the sites at which meals will be served, you have to decide how many sites you will administer. This decision will depend greatly on the need for a site in the area, your administrative capabilities as a sponsor, and the size of the programs at the sites. You must be sure to plan to operate programs that are consistent with the size of your administrative staff and the extent of your expertise. A small sponsor with limited administrative experience should carefully place limits on the number of sites where it will offer meals.

Operating Limitations

(7 CFR 225.6(b)(6))

- All sponsors, except private nonprofit organizations, may be approved for a maximum of 200 sites.
- All sponsors, except private nonprofit organizations, may be approved for a total average daily attendance at all sites of 50,000 participants.
- If a sponsor needs to exceed these levels, the State agency must determine that the sponsor has the capability and facilities for managing a larger operation before waiving these limits.
- Private nonprofit organizations may be approved to operate up to 25 sites, urban or rural, or both. They may serve up to 300 participants at an approved meal service at any one site. However, the State agency may approve a waiver to allow private nonprofit sponsors to operate more than 25 sites and serve up to 500 participants per meal service at any one site. To be approved for the waiver the sponsor must demonstrate that it is fully capable of managing more than 25 sites or sites with more than 300 participants and there must be no other sponsors in the area that can serve the additional participants (over 300).

Sponsor/Site Agreement

If you plan to administer a multi-site operation with sites that are not under your direct administrative control, you should enter into an agreement with the site supervisor or responsible site official. (Such agreements do not apply to Federal, State, local, municipal, or county government sponsors or private nonprofit organizations which must directly operate the program at all sites under their sponsorship.) The agreement should list, in specific terms, the responsibilities of the site supervisor for the food service program, which will make it easier for the site supervisor to understand their duties. However, the agreement does not relieve you as the sponsors of final administrative and financial responsibility for operating the SFSP at the site.

Sponsors should not select sites where site supervisors have had a poor performance record in past summers and where supervisors were unable to institute timely corrective action. Depending on the nature of these problems, the State agency may not approve such sites for the Program.

A sample Sponsor/Site Agreement form is included in the Reference Section as Attachment 11.

Pre-operational Requirements

Health and Sanitation

When sponsors have chosen their prospective sites, they must:

- notify the health department in writing of all prospective site locations; and
- arrange for prompt and regular trash removal.

Site Visits

Prior to approval, sponsors must visit all new sites and any sites that had operational problems last year. These visits are to determine that the sites have the facilities to provide meal service for the anticipated number of participants in attendance and the capability to conduct the proposed meal service. Sponsors should note the date of the pre-operational visit to each site and the name of the person who visited each site. Attachment 27 provides a sample form that can be used to record pre-operational visit information. When they apply for the SFSP, sponsors will have to certify that all required site visits have been conducted. If sponsors wish, monitors may complete the required pre-operational visits. These pre-operational visits must not be confused with required site visits during the first week of program operations (see Part II, Chapter 2 -- Monitoring for a further discussion of these site visits).

Chapter 3 - Meal Service

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- different methods to provide meals;
- meal pattern requirements for the meals you serve;
- what to do with leftovers;
- meal service requirements; and
- summer food safety rules.

Before the State agency approves the Program application, a sponsor will have to indicate the method it will use to provide meals to participants. Several factors such as the cost of food, the number of meals required, the type of meal service, the number and type of sites, and the facilities available at each site will influence the sponsor's choice.

Sponsors may choose from several methods of providing meals. They may either:

- prepare and assemble their own meals;
- obtain meals from a school food authority; or
- obtain meals from a food service management company.

Sponsor Meal Preparation

(7 CFR 225.2 definitions)

Many sponsors choose to prepare their own meals, which allows the sponsor to have maximum control over the quality of preparation. Depending on the facilities available at its sites, a sponsor may prepare meals at each site location or at a central kitchen. Preparing meals at the site requires that each site have adequate kitchen and storage facilities. Sponsors preparing meals at a central kitchen must decide how they are going to distribute the meals from the central kitchen to the sites, and safely store them until meal service. Sponsors preparing or assembling their own meals either at each site or at a central kitchen will receive higher administrative reimbursement rates. (See Attachment 18 for a sample food production worksheet.)

Purchasing Meals From Schools

(7 CFR 225.15(b))

If sponsors choose not to prepare meals for their sites, they may enter into a noncompetitive agreement to purchase meals from a school food authority which does not obtain meals or management services from a food service management company. Most schools have meal preparation and service facilities since they serve meals to children during the school year. Also, experienced school food service personnel are often available for summer jobs. If meals for the summer program will be prepared in schools that participate in the National School Lunch Program (NSLP) or School Breakfast Program (SBP), the State agency can permit the service of meals that meet the requirements of these programs rather than the SFSP meal patterns.

If a sponsor wishes to exercise this option, a request for permission should be submitted to the State agency along with the application for program participation. Sponsors that wish to obtain their SFSP meals from a school should contact their local superintendent of schools, or the principals of local nonprofit private schools. (See the Vended Sponsor's Guide for additional information on soliciting local schools.)

Such an arrangement will require either a written agreement or a contract between the sponsor and the school food authority. Attachment 7 in the Reference Section includes a sample agreement between the school and sponsor to furnish prepared meals.

Purchasing Meals From a FSMC

(7 CFR 225.6(g)(2))

All SFSP sponsors may choose to contract with a food service management company or with a school to obtain their meals. Generally, sponsors may not contract with a school using a food service management company. However, it may be permissible if the school's Invitation for Bid and/or the contract with the food service management company included the provision of SFSP meals.

Consult the Vended Sponsor's Guide for additional information. It explains the various requirements and procedures that such sponsors must follow when they are contracting with a food service management company.

Commodities

(7 CFR 225.9(b))

Sponsors preparing meals onsite or at a central kitchen, those purchasing meals from a school food authority that participate in the NSLP, and "school food authority" sponsors that procure their SFSP meals from the same food service management company that competitively provided their most recent NSLP and/or SBP meals are eligible to receive donated commodities under the SFSP. The State agency will provide information about currently available commodities to all eligible sponsors.

Unitized Meals(7 CFR 225.6(h)(3))

Food service management companies and school food authorities contracting to prepare SFSP meals must provide unitized meals to the sponsors' site(s) unless the State agency has approved a waiver of the unitized meal requirement. The unitized meal requirement specifies that the meal components (except the milk or juice) must be packaged, delivered, and served as a unit. Milk or juice, which may be packaged and provided separately, must be served with the meal and only such complete meals are reimbursable.

Number and
Type of Meals*(7 CFR 225.16(b))*Regular Open and Enrolled Sites

With State agency approval, sponsors may serve up to two meals or one meal and one snack each day. Allowable meal combinations include:

- Breakfast only
- Lunch only
- Snack only
- Supper only
- Breakfast and lunch
- Breakfast and snack
- Breakfast and supper
- Lunch and snack
- Supper and snack
- Two snacks

Camps and Migrant Sites

With State agency approval, sponsors may serve up to three meals each day or two meals and one snack. Allowable meal combinations include:

- Breakfast, Lunch, Supper
- Breakfast, Lunch, and Snack
- Lunch, Supper, and Snack
- Any combination of meals or snacks that is less than the maximum number allowed

Meal Pattern(7 CFR 225.16(d))

Requirements

The goal of the SFSP is to serve nutritious meals that meet meal pattern requirements and that are appetizing to participants. Careful menu planning is necessary to meet this goal. The meal pattern requirements assure well-balanced meals that supply the kinds and amounts of foods that children require to help meet their nutrient and energy needs. The meal patterns establish the minimum portions of the various meal components that must be served to each child in order for the participating sponsor to receive reimbursement for each meal.

For a breakfast to be a reimbursable meal it must contain:

- one serving of milk;
- one serving of a vegetable or fruit or full-strength juice; and
- one serving of grain or bread.
- A meat or meat alternate is optional.

For a lunch or supper to be a reimbursable meal it must contain:

- one serving of milk;
- two or more servings of vegetables and/or fruits;
- one serving of grain or bread; and
- one serving of meat or meat alternate.

For a snack to be a reimbursable meal it must contain two food items. Each item must be from a different food component. However, juice cannot be served when milk is served as the only other component.

The following chart shows the required food components for each meal type with the minimum required serving sizes. This chart is also provided as Attachment 4.

Summer Food Service Program Meal Patterns

Indicated endnotes can be found on the next page.

Endnotes

1. Serve two food items. Each food item must be from a different food component. Juice may not be served when milk is served as the only other component.
2. Must be served as a beverage, or on cereal, or use part of it for each purpose.
3. Must be served as a beverage.
4. Serve two or more kinds of vegetable(s) and/or fruit(s) or a combination of both. Full-strength vegetable or fruit juice may be counted to meet not more than one-half of this requirement.
5. All grain/bread items must be enriched or whole-grain, made from enriched or whole-grain meal or flour, or if it is a cereal, the product must be whole-grain, enriched or fortified. Bran and germ are credited the same as enriched or whole-grain meal or flour.
6. Either volume (cup) or weight (oz.) whichever is less.
7. Must meet the requirements in Appendix A of the SFSP regulations.
8. No more than 50 percent of the requirement shall be met with nuts or seeds. Nuts or seeds shall be combined with another meat/meat alternate to fulfill the requirement. When determining combinations, 1 oz. of nuts or seeds is equal to 1 oz. of cooked lean meat, poultry, or fish.

Meal Pattern Exceptions

SFSP sponsors may, in certain cases, be approved to serve meals that meet the meal pattern requirements of other Child Nutrition Programs:

Infant Meals (7 CFR 225.16(f)(2))

Because an infant's first year's dietary needs are individually prescribed and may be more complicated than those for toddlers and older children, sponsors must receive prior approval from the State agency to serve meals to infants 1 year of age and younger. All meals served to infants must comply with infant meal pattern requirements in Section 226.20(b) of the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) regulations. Your State agency can assist you in making sure that your meals comply with these requirements if you serve infants.

Meals for Children Aged 1 to 6 (7 CFR 225.16(f)(2))

SFSP regulations allow for the adjusting of meal portion sizes for younger children. The sponsor must demonstrate to the State agency that it can control portion sizes and follow the age-appropriate meal pattern requirements for children in Section 226.20(c) of CACFP regulations.

Meals for Children Aged 12 to 18 (7 CFR 225.16(d))

The meal patterns specify the minimum portion of each food component for each meal or snack. Because teenagers have greater food needs, sponsors may serve adult-size portions to older children.

Meals Prepared in Schools (7 CFR 225.16(f)(1)(i))

Schools participating in NSLP or SBP are accustomed to preparing meals that meet Federal nutritional requirements. Sponsors serving meals that are prepared in schools may, with prior State agency approval, use the meal requirements of those programs instead of the SFSP meal patterns. Sections 210.10 and 210.10(a) of NSLP regulations and Sections 220.8 and 220.8(a) of SBP regulations describe requirements for school meals.

Offer Versus Serve (7 CFR 225.16(f)(1)(ii))

Offer versus serve (OVS) in SFSP can simplify Program administration for school-sponsored sites while maintaining the nutritional integrity of the SFSP meal that is served. All school sponsored sites -regardless of the location of the sites- may use OVS in SFSP. School sponsors operating breakfast programs at school sites which want to implement OVS must follow SBP meal requirements. Otherwise, the nutritional content of the breakfast may be compromised. For lunch or supper, the school sponsor may follow the SFSP meal pattern or request approval from the State agency to continue to use the menu-planning option it uses for school lunches. Each child who participates must be offered a complete meal. OVS is not available for snacks.

Leftover Meals or Components

(7 CFR 225.15(b))

All sponsors must plan, prepare or order meals, with the objective of providing one meal per child at each meal service, and must ensure that entire meals and food components are not often left over and unusable. You will want to minimize the amount of waste and unusable leftovers. Some suggestions for avoiding loss or at least reducing the amount of loss are discussed below:

- Sponsors should be monitoring sites' reports of the number of participants attending the sites and the number of meals being delivered to sites to reduce waste and cost.
- A limited number of second meals served as a unit can be claimed for reimbursement, as long as the total number of second meals does not exceed 2 percent of first meals served by the sponsor for all sites during the claiming period.
- Extra meals can be transferred, if allowed by the local health code, from a site with too many meals to a site with a shortage, keeping in mind that meals in excess of the receiving site's approved meal level are not reimbursable.
- Designate a "sharing table" or stations where participants may return whole items that they choose not to eat, provided that this is in compliance with local and State health and safety codes. These items are then available to other participants who may want additional helpings. This practice may be facilitated by serving meal components so that they can be easily "recycled." For example, if sandwich halves are wrapped separately, a child can return an uneaten half to the sharing table.

- Where equipment is available, complete meals and nonperishable components that remain on a sharing table can be stored under refrigeration for subsequent service.
- The form of the food should be suitable to the age of the participants so that it can be easily consumed within the meal service period. For example, if fruit is cut into smaller pieces it is easier for young children to eat.

Sponsors may still find their sites with leftover meals or food items, despite honest efforts to prepare or order the appropriate number of meals, adjust portion sizes, encourage consumption of all meal components, and refrigerate leftovers for later service. Other options for avoiding waste and disposing of leftovers should be explored. If health and food service codes permit, such options could include donations to homeless shelters, food pantries, or other types of facilities which serve meals or distribute food to needy persons. Sponsors electing to do so should request guidance from the State agency on including the cost of such donated meals or components in their total operating costs for claiming purposes.

Requirements for Meal Service

(7 CFR 225.6(e), 225.15(b), and 225.16)

In addition to serving meals that meet meal pattern requirements, you must be certain that they comply with the following rules when serving meals at each of their sites:

- Serve the same meal to all participants. (This means all participants receive a meal meeting the meal pattern requirement, not that all meals must be identical in every component.)
- Except where permitted by the State agency, ensure that participants eat all meals onsite. Your State agency may allow items from the fruit/vegetable component of the meal pattern to be taken off-site. Sponsors should check with State agency staff before allowing any fruits or vegetables to be taken off-site. If the State agency permits this practice, sponsors may allow this option for sites. However, sponsors should allow this only at sites where there is enough staff to monitor this practice. Finally, site personnel must be sure to supervise all participants on the site while they are eating meals.
- Ensure that all participants in attendance at the site receive one meal before any child is served a complete second meal, or any adult meals are served (other than those to participating, eligible disabled adults).
- Adhere to local health and sanitation regulations.
- Make adequate arrangements for food service during inclement weather if meals are usually served at an outdoor site.

- Serve meals during the times of meal service submitted on the Site Information Sheet and approved by the State agency. The State agency must approve any changes in meal service times.

Serving Meals Family Style

Serving family style meals can help participants develop good eating habits through the personal example provided by supervising adults. A family style meal service can work well at camp sites if adults are available to assist children during the meal and if staff and children are together for an extended period of time to provide a relaxed, stable environment conducive for teaching good eating habits. Family style service should not be used at other types of sites.

If a family style service is allowed by State agencies at camp sites, sponsors should make sure that:

- Enough food is placed on each table to provide minimum portions of all required meal components;
- Some amount of each required component must be placed on each participant's plate and the minimum amount required by the meal pattern must be offered; and
- Staff should actively encourage participants to accept the full portion during the meal.

For more information on family style service, consult FNS Instruction 783-3, rev. 1, Family Style Meal Service in the Summer Food Service Program.”

Field Trips in the SFSP

- If the site is planning a field trip, the sponsor must notify the vendor, if applicable, and the State agency in advance. Meal service must be approved for the place where the participants will be that day. Along with written notice, it might be helpful to provide a calendar with scheduled field trips listed.
- Sponsors must notify the State agency of any changes (additions and/or cancellations) to scheduled field trips.
- If the State agency is not notified prior to the field trip, meals served may be considered “consumed off-site” and not be reimbursed.
- Sponsors must carefully insure the safety and quality of the meals by using adequate storage equipment to transport them.

Time Restrictions

(7 CFR 225.16(c))

In addition to making sure that meals served meet the meal pattern requirements, sponsors should be aware of time restrictions for meal service. Except for residential camps, as a sponsor you must ensure that:

- 3 hours elapse between the beginning of one approved meal service (including snacks) and the beginning of another.
- 4 hours elapse between lunch and supper when a migrant or day camp site serves lunch and supper, with no afternoon snack between the two meals.
- Supper must begin before 7:00 p.m. (unless the State agency grants a waiver) and, in all cases, must end by 8:00 p.m.
- The serving period for lunch and supper should not exceed 2 hours.
- The serving period for breakfast and snacks should not exceed 1 hour.

Note: If you feel that any of these rules present a barrier to participation in SFSP, please contact your State agency for an exception request to the general rule. The State agency must always ensure that food safety and oversight are adequate.

- Arrange for delivery if the meals are not prepared at the site and arrange for storing the meals according to standards prescribed by local health authorities until meal time. If the meals are not prepared onsite, the State agency will not approve meal service at that site unless either:
 - meals can be delivered no more than 1 hour prior to the beginning of the meal service, or
 - proper facilities exist onsite for storing the food.

Keep These Food Safety Rules in Mind

- Keep hot foods HOT! (Keep food at 140 °F or above)
- Keep cold foods COLD! (Refrigerate or chill food at 40 °F or below)
- Keep frozen food in a freezer at 0 °F or lower.
- Be sure thermometers are available and use them properly.
- Cook hazardous foods to proper internal temperatures. Use a meat thermometer.
- Do not partially cook food one day and complete cooking the next day.
- Prepare sandwiches and salads with a minimum amount of handling. Use disposable plastic gloves.
- Promptly refrigerate or freeze leftovers. Divide large quantities into smaller containers or use shallow pans, and cover loosely for quick cooling. Once cooled, tightly cover and date leftovers.
- Reheat leftovers to at least 165 °F.
- Maintain proper holding temperatures, 140 °F or above.
- Thaw poultry and meat in a refrigerator and not on counters. Refreeze only if ice crystals are still present.
- Never let perishable food reach a temperature between 40 °F and 140 °F. Discard food if it does.
- Keep meals and milk not being served at the time in the refrigerator or cooler at a temperature of 40 °F or below. Hot meals should be in a warming unit or insulated box at a holding temperature of 140 °F or more.
- Empty garbage cans daily. They should be kept tightly covered and thoroughly cleaned. Use plastic or paper liners.
- Remember that you cannot determine food safety by sight, taste, odor, or smell. If there is any doubt, throw the food away.
- Follow instructions exactly on how to use and clean kitchen equipment.
- Train food service employees on the safe use of all types of equipment and on personal hygiene.
- Keep a fire extinguisher and first-aid kit handy and instruct all personnel in their use.

Chapter 4 – Staffing

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- determining the staff members needed to effectively run your program; and
- what the staff members responsibilities are.

The size and type of a sponsor's Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) will dictate many of the sponsor's staffing needs. Depending on a sponsor's program, many positions will require only part-time employment, particularly in the planning and close-out phases. The need for record-keeping personnel varies according to the size of the program. To meet program monitoring requirements, USDA recommends one monitor for every 15 to 20 sites in urban areas. The number of monitors necessary for rural sites may increase depending upon the geographic area to be covered. Also, varying opening and closing dates of individual site operations affect staffing needs. In every case, however, the sponsor must provide adequate personnel for overall program management and monitoring.

Staff Duties

For guidance on staff duties, refer to the list of responsibilities by position that follows. Small programs will not need a different person for each of the duties described. Sponsors needing more specific staffing guidance should consult their State agency.

Director's Responsibilities

- ✓ Attend State agency training
- ✓ Provide overall management and supervise the SFSP
- ✓ Select sites
- ✓ Submit applications/agreements to State agency
- ✓ Correspond with State agency
- ✓ Coordinate with other agencies and conduct outreach efforts
- ✓ Hire, train, and supervise staff
- ✓ Arrange for food preparation or delivery
- ✓ Ensure that all monitoring requirements are met
- ✓ Adjust meal orders
- ✓ Submit reimbursement vouchers
- ✓ Ensure civil rights compliance
- ✓ Handle all agreements and contracts, bidding, and negotiations with vendors for purchased meals

Assistant Director's Responsibilities (large program only otherwise these duties should be undertaken by the Director)

- ✓ Provide initial and ongoing training for sponsor and site personnel
- ✓ Design forms for record-keeping purposes
- ✓ Maintain liaison with vendor to adjust meal delivery
- ✓ Check reimbursement vouchers
- ✓ Maintain time and attendance records of staff
- ✓ Maintain records on number of meals served

Area Supervisor's Responsibilities (very large program only; otherwise these duties should be undertaken by the Director or Assistant Director).

- ✓ Schedule monitors' visits
- ✓ Check monitors' reports
- ✓ Prepare weekly summaries of monitoring efforts
- ✓ Provide ongoing training for monitors
- ✓ Visit sites with monitors
- ✓ Determine need for and following through on corrective action
- ✓ Review the meal counts submitted by sites for unusual meal count patterns, e.g., first meals always or usually equals meals delivered

The area supervisor is in charge of several monitors and reports site problems to the director or assistant director.

Bookkeeper's Responsibilities

- ✓ Maintain records on the following:
 - Daily site reports, invoices, and bills
 - Food costs
 - Labor costs
 - Administrative costs
 - Other costs
 - Program income
- ✓ Prepare reimbursement vouchers
- ✓ Prepare payroll
- ✓ Purchase office supplies

Monitor's Responsibilities

- ✓ Check onsite operations to ensure that site personnel maintain records
- ✓ Ensure the program operates in accordance with the requirements
- ✓ Visit all sites within the first week of food service operations
- ✓ Review food service operations of all sites within the first 4 weeks of operation
- ✓ Prepare reports of visits and reviews
- ✓ Revisit sites as necessary
- ✓ Suggest corrective actions for problems encountered
- ✓ Ensure that the site takes corrective actions
- ✓ Conduct onsite training as necessary

The monitor visits sites on a regular basis and observes meal service operations. At a minimum, one monitor is needed for every 15 to 20 sites. See Part II, Chapter 2 -- Monitoring of this guide, for more details.

Monitors are critical to the successful operation of your SFSP sites. They are your “eyes and ears”, providing valuable feedback to you about how the sites are operating by visiting sites on a regular basis and observing meal services. As such, monitors are administrative staff, and you must account for their salaries and other expenses as administrative costs. (For more information about categorizing costs, see Part II, Chapter 5, Recordkeeping.)

Site Supervisor's Responsibilities

- ✓ Serve meals
- ✓ Clean up after meals
- ✓ Ensure safe and sanitary conditions at the site
- ✓ Receive and account for delivered meals
- ✓ Ensure that participants eat all meals onsite
- ✓ Plan and organize daily site activities
- ✓ Implement alternate food service arrangements during inclement weather
- ✓ Take accurate meal counts (at point of service unless an alternate system that provides an accurate count has been approved by the State agency)

Chapter 5 -- Application

In this chapter, you will find specifics on:

- applying to become a SFSP Sponsor;
- how applications are approved;
- what to check for on the program agreement before signing;
- what happens if an application is denied;
- what a sponsor may appeal; and
- a planning checklist.

Potential sponsors must submit an application to the State agency before the agency's deadline date. Applicants should be certain that they have filled out the application completely and that they have forwarded all of the necessary supporting documentation to the State agency. Incomplete applications will cause a delay in approval of the sponsor.

Requirements

(7 CFR 225.6(c))

There have been some changes in Federal regulations in the area of application requirements for SFSP sponsors. One change is that Federal regulations (7 CFR 225.6(c)(1)) now allow State agencies to exempt standard application procedures for those sponsors that want to provide program benefits in times of emergencies (i.e., unanticipated school closures from October through April or at any time during the year for an area with a continuous school calendar). These sponsors may be exempted from filing an application if they have participated in the SFSP in the current year or in either of the two previous calendar years.

Federal regulations (7 CFR 225.6(c)(2) and (3)) also allow State agencies to vary application requirements based on their assessment of sponsors' experience or expertise in operating the program. For new sponsors or those sponsors that have had operational problems, a State agency will require more detailed information on the site information sheets. For other sponsors that the State agency considers to be experienced in operating the program, less information may be required. Since this regulatory change is optional, not all State agencies may adopt this variation in application processing.

A list of application requirements cannot be all-inclusive, since variations occur with each State agency and with the nature of different food services. However, the following list indicates the basic application requirements that sponsors must satisfy.

1. Submit documentation of tax-exempt status under the Federal

Internal Revenue Code of 1986 if they are private nonprofit entities.

Note: church sponsors are not required to provide Federal tax-exempt documentation; however, they are required to provide proof of State non-profit status.

2. Demonstrate adequate administrative and financial responsibility to manage an effective food service.
3. Provide a site information sheet for each proposed site. The site information sheet includes documentation of eligibility and meal service times and capabilities for each site, or, if the sponsor qualifies as a camp, documentation of the number of participants enrolled in its program who are eligible for free or reduced price school meals.

(See also Part I, Chapter 1 – Eligibility for documenting open, restricted open, and closed enrolled site eligibility.)

4. Provide a written policy statement on free meals. This policy statement, which must be approved by the State agency explains that:
 - meals are free to enrolled participants who are documented as eligible for free or reduced price school meals according to the income eligibility guidelines for the NSLP and SBP; and
 - the same meal is served to all enrolled participants regardless of reimbursement status and without discrimination against any child because of race, color, national origin, sex, age or disability.

Camps that charge separately for meals must also:

- explain that the camp uses USDA's eligibility standards for family size and income levels at the level of reduced price school meals;
- describe how the camp accepts income eligibility applications from campers and assure that children whose families receive food stamp, FDPIR, or TANF benefits are automatically eligible for free meals;
- describe how the camp will collect payments from children who must pay the full price for their meals and how the camp ensures that children receiving free meals are not overtly identified;

- assure that the camp has a hearing procedure for families who want to appeal a denial for eligibility of free meals; and
- assure that if a family requests a hearing, the child will continue to receive free meals until a decision is made by the hearing official.

5. Sign a program agreement with the State agency.

6. Media release.

In Missouri, the media release is done for you by the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services; however, you may wish to do your own local news release as well. If so, consult the sample media release provided in your media packet at SFSP training, or call 888-435-1464 for a packet, if you did not attend training.

The purpose of the media release is to announce the availability of free meals, the nondiscrimination policy, and complaint procedures if an individual wishes to file a complaint for violation of non-discrimination policy. Enrolled sites and camps must include the reduced price income eligibility guidelines in the media releases. Participants who are part of households that receive food stamps, FDPIR, or TANF benefits are categorically eligible for free meals. However, TANF households are categorically eligible only if the States' TANF program utilizes income eligibility criteria at or below what was used in AFDC.

In addition to the information that is required to be included in the media release, we encourage sponsors to include other relevant information, such as activities that will be provided for participants at the SFSP sites.

7. Submit a complete management plan that includes staffing needs and an administrative budget. Sponsors will need to indicate the number of people who will be working in each position, the number of hours per day each will work, and the total estimate for employee salaries, including hourly wages and fringe benefits. Sponsors should complete their administrative budgets after estimating the potential amount of Program payments they will receive during the summer. (See Part II, Chapter 4 for more information on how to estimate Program income.)

8. Apply for advance payments. These are payments that may be received before the program begins to pay for administrative and operating costs that are incurred before the program starts.

(Advance payments are explained in detail in Part II, Chapter 4 -- Program Payments.)

9. Certify that a training program will be conducted for monitor and site personnel. Include information explaining when the training will be held and the topics that will be discussed. (Part II, Chapter 1 -- Training contains an in-depth explanation of this training requirement.)
10. For sponsors that plan to use a food service management company to provide meals, provide a copy of the invitation for bid; for sponsors that plan to use a school food authority to provide meals, provide the proposed agreement. Sponsors should also submit plans for advertisement for bids, if they intend to contract with a food service management company.
11. Apply for start-up payments if they are available, and if the sponsor wants to receive them. Start-up payments are described in Part II, Chapter 4 -- Program Payments.
12. Certify that they will directly operate the food service at each of their sites if the sponsor is a governmental unit or a private nonprofit organization.

Deadline for Submitting
Applications

(7 CFR 225.6(b)(1))

The deadline for submitting a written application to operate the SFSP in the summer months is May 15 in Missouri. Sponsors that apply to operate the program during emergencies are exempt from application deadlines.

Approval of Applications

(7 CFR 225.6(b)(3))

During the approval procedure, the State agency will communicate with the sponsor's director in writing and by phone. If the application is incomplete, the State agency must notify the applicant within 15 days and help the applicant complete the application process. The State agency must approve or deny any complete application within 30 days after receiving the application.

State - Sponsor Agreement

(7 CFR 225.6(e))

At the time it approves sponsors to operate the program, the State agency will complete and sign a program agreement with each sponsor. The agreement should be read carefully before being signed, since it is a legally binding document that specifies the rights and responsibilities of both the sponsor and State agency. When they receive the completed agreement back from the State agency, sponsors should be certain to check the following items:

- The approved administrative budget -- this budget will include the levels of potential administrative costs approved by the State agency and will be based on the budget submitted by the sponsor. The approved budget does not imply in any way that sponsors will be reimbursed for the full amount of each budgeted item, but rather specifies the areas of administrative costs that will be allowable. If a sponsor finds that the levels approved in the administrative budget are inadequate, it may amend the budget with the approval of the State agency. However, all costs must be documented in order to be claimed.
- The approved list of sites -- the agreement will include a list of approved sponsor sites. Only meals served and consumed at these sites will be eligible for program reimbursement. Sites may be added or deleted later with the approval of the State agency.
- The approved meal service(s) at each site -- the agreement will specify the type(s) of meals approved for each site. You will not receive any reimbursement for the service of any meal type that is not approved by the State agency.
- The approved time of meal service -- the agreement will include the approved time of meal service for each site. Sponsors will not receive reimbursement for meals served outside of meal service times unless approved by the State agency.
- The approved level(s) of meal service for each site serving vended meals -- the agreement will include an approved maximum level of meals for each type of meal service at each vended site. (This approved meal level is discussed in Part III -- Food Service Management Companies of this guide.) Those meals served that exceed the approved level at any meal service will not be eligible for reimbursement. If you determine that an approved level is too low, you should seek an adjustment by contacting the State agency.

Most important, you will be able to receive reimbursement only for meals that are served after they have been approved for program operations. Sponsors must be certain that they have been approved before they begin their meal service.

Before program operations begin, sponsors must submit to the State agency a copy of their letter notifying the local health department of their intention to provide a food service at specific times at planned sites.

Appeal Rights

(7 CFR 225.6(b)(3) and 225.13)

Any sponsor that is denied participation in the program may obtain a review by an official other than the one directly responsible for the original determination. At the time of the denial, the State agency must tell the sponsor who to contact for a review.

You may also appeal the following State agency actions:

- denial of sponsor's request for an advance payment;
- denial of a sponsor's claim for reimbursement (except on decisions made by FNS with respect to late claims or upward adjustments);
- termination of a sponsor's (or a site's) participation in the program;
- denial of a sponsor's site application;
- if applicable, denial of a food service management company's application for registration or the revocation of a food service management company's registration;
- claim against a sponsor for remittance of a payment; and
- refusal by the State agency to forward to FNS an exception request by the sponsor for payment of a late claim or a request for an upward adjustment to a claim.

Planning Checklist

A checklist which summarizes the planning activities described throughout Part I of this guide is included as Attachment 10.

Chapter 6 – Questions and Answers

1. What requirements must I meet to become a sponsor of the Summer Food Service Program?

The first requirement is that your sponsoring organization must be a public or private nonprofit school food authority, or a public or private nonprofit college or university, or a public or private nonprofit residential summer camp, or a unit of local, county, municipal State or Federal Government, or any other type of private nonprofit organization. Also, all sponsors must be tax exempt and must demonstrate the administrative and financial ability to manage a food service effectively. In addition, most sponsors must provide a year-round public service to the area in which they intend to provide the SFSP.

2. At what types of sites can meals be served?

Meals can be served at open, restricted open, closed enrolled, migrant, or NYSP sites, or at residential or nonresidential camps.

3. Are there any pre-operational requirements I must fulfill once I have chosen my prospective sites?

Yes. Once prospective sites have been chosen the health department must be notified in writing of all prospective site locations and arrangements for prompt and regular trash removal must be made. Further, all sites must be visited to determine that they have the facilities to provide meals for the anticipated number of participants in attendance and the capability to serve SFSP meals.

4. What are my choices of meal preparation methods to use when providing meals to participants?

Sponsors may choose from several methods of meal preparation when providing meals. They may either prepare and assemble their own meals, or obtain meals from a school food authority or from a food service management company.

5. How many and what type of meals can I serve each day?

Open, restricted open, or closed enrolled sites may be approved to serve up to two meals each day, either breakfast and lunch or lunch and a snack. Camps and sites serving primarily children of migrant families may serve up to three meals or two meals and one snack with State agency approval.

6. What are the meal pattern requirements for the meals I serve to participants?

The goal of the SFSP is to serve nutritious meals that meet meal pattern requirements and that are appealing to participants. The meal pattern establishes the minimum portions of each component that need to be served to each child for a reimbursable meal. Breakfast must contain one serving of milk, one serving of a vegetable or fruit or full-strength juice and one serving of grain or bread. A meat or meat alternate is optional. A lunch or a supper must contain one serving of milk, two or more servings of vegetables and/or fruits, one serving of grain or bread and one serving of meat or meat alternate. A snack must contain two food items from different food components. However, juice cannot be served when milk is served as the other component. See the meal pattern chart in this part to see required food components for each meal type and the minimum required serving sizes.

7. What are the other requirements for the meals I serve to participants?

Besides serving meals that meet meal pattern requirements, sponsors must be certain that: all participants eat all meals onsite (unless the State agency allows the fruit/vegetable component to be taken off-site and the sponsor approves sites with adequate supervisory staff), and all participants receive one meal before any child is served a complete second meal. Also, sponsors must adhere to local health and sanitation regulations, make adequate arrangement for food service during inclement weather, serve meals during the approved times of meal service and notify the State agency if the site is planning a field trip.

8. Are there time restrictions for any of the meals I serve?

Yes. Except for residential camps, sponsors must ensure that 3 hours elapse between the beginning of one approved meal service (including snacks) and the beginning of another. Also, 4 hours must elapse between lunch and supper when a migrant or day camp site serves lunch and supper with no afternoon snack between the two meals. Further, supper must begin before 7:00 p.m. (unless the State agency grants a waiver) and, in all cases, must end by 8:00 p.m. The serving period for lunch and supper must not exceed 2 hours and the serving period for breakfast and snacks must not exceed 1 hour.

9. What things should I consider when deciding my staffing needs?

It is very important for the sponsor to provide adequate personnel for overall Program management and monitoring in order to fully comply with Program requirements. Depending on a sponsor's program, many positions will require only part-time employment, particularly in the planning and close-out phases. The need for record keeping personnel varies according to the size of the program. To meet Program monitoring requirements, USDA recommends one monitor for every 15 to 20 sites in urban areas. The number of monitors necessary for rural sites may increase depending upon the geographic area to be covered. Also, varying opening and closing dates of individual sites affect staffing needs. In every case the sponsor must provide adequate personnel for overall Program management and monitoring.

10. What do I need to do to apply to participate in the SFSP?

Contact your State agency and they will supply you with a sponsor application. Make sure to submit the application to the State agency before the agency's deadline date. Applicants should be certain that they have filled out the application completely and that they have forwarded all the necessary supporting documentation. Incomplete applications will cause a delay in approval of the sponsor.

11. What happens when I'm approved to participate in the SFSP?

When a sponsor is approved to participate in the SFSP, the State agency will complete and sign a program agreement with each sponsor. The agreement should be read carefully before being signed, since it is a legal binding document that specifies the rights and responsibilities of both the sponsor and State agency. When the completed agreement is received back from the State agency sponsors should be certain to check the approved administrative budget, approved list of sites, approved meal service(s) at each site, approved meal service time, and approved level(s) of meals service for each site serving vended meals.

PART II -- ADMINISTERING THE PROGRAM

Once sponsors are approved they must operate the Summer Food Service Program (SFSP) according to:

- Federal regulations;
- SFSP instructions, circulars and guidance materials; and
- applicable State and local laws.

See Attachment 5 for a list of current SFSP Federal Policies. Check with your State agency about any changes in SFSP policies.

Chapter 1 -- Training

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- training requirements for you and your staff; and
- specific training needs for administrative staff, site staff, and monitors.

Training is one of the sponsor's major administrative responsibilities. A smoothly operating program will require that training be provided by sponsors throughout the summer. A comprehensive training effort, including weekly or biweekly meetings on program requirements, will help to make certain that monitor, site and administrative personnel are performing according to program regulations, that all meals will be eligible for reimbursement, and that accurate and adequate records are available to document the costs and meals claimed.

To enhance this training effort, a communications network (both internal and external) should be established with the State agency, the school vendor or food service management company, the in-office staff members, the monitors, and the site staff. For example, meetings and telephone contacts with site and monitor staff will provide them with opportunities to ask questions about and discuss site operations, and will give sponsors a chance to provide specific training on any problem area. In addition, discussions of job descriptions and explanations about the organizational structure enable staff members to understand their own responsibilities as well as those of their coworkers.

Sponsor Requirements

(7 CFR 225.7(a) and 225.15(d)(1))

You are required to attend State agency training and then train both your administrative staff and site staff before they undertake their responsibilities. However, sponsors that provide SFSP meals during emergency school closure situations (from October through April or anytime of the year in an area with a continuous school calendar) may be exempted from the State agency annual training. Because these staff groups have different program responsibilities, most sponsors will want to offer two different training sessions so that they can stress each group's specific functions. All staff should receive a letter or flyer announcing the date, time, location, and importance of attending the training session that has been planned for their particular function. You should also remind staff shortly before the date of the session. For each training session that you offer to your administrative and site staff, you must record the date, names of the attendees, and document the topics covered. See Attachment 12 for training checklists for administrative, monitor, and site staff training sessions.

Administrative Staff

(7 CFR 225.15(d)(1))

The training session that you offer your administrative staff will explain the responsibilities and duties of all sponsor personnel who are helping to administer the SFSP at the sponsor level. These personnel include the office staff (assistants, clerks, bookkeepers, and secretaries), area supervisors, and most importantly, monitors.

The specific training needs of sponsor administrative staff will vary, so you may need to cover specific areas of the training in greater depth with different employees. However, all your training for administrative staff should cover the following topics and use the training materials listed in the sample outline. This outline is also provided in the Reference Section as Attachment 12.

1. Begin with general explanation of the program, emphasizing the following topics (use Administrative Guidance for Sponsors).
 - a. Purpose of the program
 - b. Site eligibility
 - c. Record-keeping requirements
 - d. Organized site activity
 - e. Meal requirements
 - f. Nondiscrimination compliance
2. Describe how the program will operate within the framework outlined in this guide (use the menu schedule, sample delivery receipts and sample daily reporting forms for sites).

- a. How meals will be provided
 - b. The delivery schedule (if applicable)
 - c. What records are kept and what forms are used
3. Outline the specific duties of monitors (use monitor review form and visit report and the mileage log).
- a. Conducting site visits/reviews
 - b. Sites for which they are responsible
 - c. Monitoring schedule
 - d. Reporting procedure
 - e. Follow-up procedure
 - f. Office procedures

Monitor Personnel

Monitors should be present at both the site and administrative training meetings to ensure a good grasp of program operations at both levels. The sponsor must provide monitors with thorough training because only those monitors knowledgeable in program requirements and duties will be able to provide the kinds of feedback that a sponsor must have. Since the monitors role is so important for proper program operations and full reimbursement, sponsors should conduct a separate training session for monitors that highlights their specific functions. This training should outline the specific duties of monitors including:

1. Sites for which they will be responsible
2. Conducting site visits/reviews
3. Monitoring schedules
4. Reporting/recordkeeping procedures
5. Follow-up procedures
6. Office procedures
7. Local sanitation and health laws
8. Civil rights
9. Reporting of racial/ethnic data
10. Considerations for personal safety, if necessary

This training outline may be found in Attachment 12. Materials to use include the site visit and review forms, monitor mileage log, Monitor's Guide, and racial/ethnic data form.

Site Staff

(7 CFR 225.15(d)(1)

SFSP regulations require that no food service site may operate until personnel at the site have attended at least one of the sponsor's training sessions. (Note: State agencies may waive this requirement for sponsors that provide program benefits during emergency situations from October through April or at anytime in an area with a continuous school calendar.)

Sponsors must document the attendance at site training sessions and schedule additional sessions for those staff who are absent. Regulations also require that at least one person who has been trained by the sponsor be present at each of the sponsor's sites during the time of the meal service. This means that if a site supervisor who has attended the sponsor's training session resigns during the summer, the sponsor is responsible for ensuring that the new site supervisor receives all necessary training before taking charge of the site.

At a minimum, sponsors should be certain that they cover the following topics in the training session for site personnel. (See Attachment 12 for this training outline.)

- 1) Begin with general explanation of the program (use Administrative Guidance for Sponsors).
 - a. Purpose of the program
 - b. Site eligibility
 - c. Necessity for accurate records
 - d. Importance of organized activities at sites
- 2) Describe how the site will operate.
 - a. For sites obtaining meals from food service management companies, school food authorities or sponsor's central kitchen:
 1. meal pattern requirements and types of meal service offered (use planned menus);
 2. delivery schedules (exact times);
 3. adjustments in the delivery amount;
 4. facilities available for storing meals;
 5. who to contact about problems (provide sponsor's name and telephone number); and
 6. approved level of meal service.

- b. For sites where meals are prepared onsite:
 - 1. meal pattern requirements;
 - 2. inventory (use inventory forms);
 - 3. meal adjustments (use production records); and
 - 4. meal preparation adjustments.
- 3) Explain record-keeping requirements.
 - a. Daily record-keeping requirements
 - b. Delivery receipts (sample forms)
 - c. Seconds, leftovers and spoiled meals
 - d. Daily labor -- actual time spent on food service and time and attendance records
 - e. Collection of daily record forms
 - f. Maintain copies of meal service forms
- 4) Outline the Monitor's responsibilities (use monitoring forms).
 - a. Duties and authority
 - b. Areas of assignment and introduction to site supervisors
- 5) Explain Civil Rights requirements (use Site Supervisor's Guide).
- 6) Explain other miscellaneous policy (use sponsor's policy).
 - a. Problems of inclement weather and alternate service areas
 - b. Problems with unauthorized adults eating program meals
 - c. Problems with discipline
 - d. Review of equipment, facilities, and materials available for organized recreational activities
 - e. Review of trash removal system
 - f. Corrective action
 - g. Nutrition education

Accurate Point-Of-Service Counts Are Critical!

It is critical that site personnel and monitors understand the importance of accurate point-of-service meal counts. Meal counts should represent only the number of meals actually served to participants. Only complete meals served to eligible participants can be claimed for reimbursement. Therefore, meals must be counted at the actual point-of-service (i.e., meals counted as they are served) to ensure that an accurate count of meals served is obtained and reported. Counting meals at the point-of-service also allows site personnel to ensure that complete meals are served.

Meal Count Forms

Attachments 13, 15, 16, and 17 are sample meal count forms and are in the Reference Section. Attachment 13 is for camps only. Attachment 15 is a daily meal count form. Attachment 16 is a weekly, consolidated meal count form.

Attachment 17 is a consolidated form for 20 operating days (one month) that also provides guidance on calculating reimbursable second meals.

The training session attendance sign-in sheet for site personnel can be used by sponsors to assemble a list of the signatures of the site supervisors and assistants who are responsible for signing daily records. As a sponsor, you should then keep this list at your office to use when reviewing the records returned by the sites.

You should also send a notice of the site training session to local health inspectors so that they have an opportunity to attend the training and become more familiar with the food service operations. If any site receives meals through a food service management company or school food authority, you should also invite the company or school representatives to attend the training and participate in the discussion of menus and delivery schedules.

Chapter 2 -- Monitoring

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- what the monitoring requirements are;
- sample monitoring reports; and
- what to look for when reviewing reports.

An efficient and capable monitoring staff is essential for any sponsor's program to be successful. A monitor serves as a direct link between the sponsor's headquarters and the actual food service sites. Establishing a workable monitoring system will help to prevent problems from occurring and will make it much easier to correct any problems that arise during the summer. The size of the monitoring staff will, of course, depend on the size of the sponsor's program. (This is discussed in Part I, Chapter 4 -- Staffing.)

The sponsor must ensure that the authority and responsibilities of its monitors are clear to the monitoring staff, site supervisors, and office personnel. Monitors must ensure that the site operates the program according to program guidelines. Monitors must understand program requirements, including civil rights requirements, must train site personnel when necessary, and must spend enough time at each site to be sure of proper program operations. The monitor should also have a supply of all necessary forms.

Visits and Reviews

When monitors observe program operations at sites, they will usually make either a "visit" or a "review." A site "visit" requires a monitor to ensure that the food service is operating smoothly and that any apparent problems are immediately resolved. These site visits must not be confused with the pre-operational visits. A site "review" requires the monitor to determine if the site is meeting all the various program requirements. To accomplish this, a monitor will have to observe a complete meal service from beginning to end. This includes delivery or preparation of meals, the meal service, and clean up after meals. A sample Pre-operational /First Week Visit Form is included as Attachment 27 in the Reference Section. Sample Site Review Forms for Self-Preparation Programs and for Vended Programs are also included in the Reference Section as Attachments 28 and 29.

Requirements

(7 CFR 225.15(d)(2) and (3))

Sponsors must ensure that they meet minimum monitoring requirements. Summer Food Service Program regulations require:

- Pre-operational Visits – Sponsors must visit all new and problem sites before they may begin operations. These visits are required to make sure that the sites have facilities to provide meal services for the number of participants expected to attend.
- Site Visits (7 CFR 225.15(d)(2))-- Sponsors must visit all sites at least once during the first week of operation. However, State agencies may waive this requirement for sponsors on a site-by-site basis, provided that the sites operated successfully in the previous year and have an experienced program staff person at each of the sites for which the waiver is requested.
- Site Reviews (7 CFR 225.15(d)(3))-- Sponsors must review all sites at least once during the first 4 weeks of program operations. After this initial period, sponsors must conduct a “reasonable” level of monitoring. If a site operates less than 4 weeks, the sponsor must still conduct a review.

For a "visit", a monitor need not be present during the entire meal service as opposed to a "review" which would require a monitor to be present before, during and after the meal service to observe all aspects of the site's operations.

If any problems are found at the sites, prompt action must be taken to correct the problems. Monitors should follow-up on problems found in previous reviews and inspections by the health department and document that corrections were made. Also, monitoring must continue throughout the summer at a level sufficient to ensure that sites comply with program regulations.

Reports

All visits and reviews must be documented. Records of visits and reviews will help sponsors assess the operation of their sites. Records are only useful, however, when they are carefully reviewed by sponsor personnel and when follow-up monitoring is scheduled to ensure that any suggested corrective actions have been taken to improve site operations.

Each sponsor must, therefore, design a system for handling monitor reports. Sponsors should have a system that will ensure that monitors return reports frequently -- if possible every day. The reports should be immediately reviewed by a specific member of the sponsor's staff who is responsible for following up on any problems. The staff member should:

- review any problems found by the monitor;

- call the site supervisor, if necessary;
- document corrective action taken at the site;
- schedule a follow-up review, if necessary; and
- sign and date the report.

The sponsor review official will have to base the timing of a follow-up review on the severity of the problem.

Reviewing Reports

When sponsors or their staff review monitor reports, they should also pay attention to the quality of the reports. There are several indicators that may be apparent in the monitors' reports that may suggest the monitor's lack of program knowledge or the monitor's misunderstanding of his or her responsibilities. A monitor is very likely to need additional training if:

- not all questions on the report are answered;
- the monitor rarely notes problems and does not include comments in the remarks section of the report;
- the monitor observes that the number of meals delivered or served and the number of participants who are in attendance are always the same and yet does not follow-up on this suspicious pattern to see if meal counts are really being taken;
- the monitor recommends a corrective action and fails to note the action taken or fails to initiate correction of the problem(s); or
- the monitor fails to recommend adjustments in meal orders when the number of meals exceeds attendance;
- the monitor arrives at sites late and/or the monitor does not stay for the entire meal service.

You must be sure that monitors schedule their visits and reviews so that they can meet the program requirements. This is particularly true for the sponsors with a large number of sites. A good monitoring schedule and an efficient system for the review and follow-up on the monitor's reports are necessary for effective program operations.

Chapter 3 -- Civil Rights

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- civil rights requirements; and
- racial/ethnic data you must collect at your sites.

Requirements

(7 CFR 225.7(g) and FNS Instruction 113-8)

All participating sponsors must inform potential participants, particularly minorities, of the availability of the Summer Food Service Program. In addition, all sponsors and their sites are required to:

- display in a prominent place at the site and in the sponsor's office, the nondiscrimination poster developed by USDA or approved by the Food and Nutrition Service;
- make reasonable efforts to provide information in the appropriate translation concerning the availability and nutritional benefits of the program;
- make program information available to the public upon request;
- include the nondiscrimination statement, and instructions for filing a complaint, in their public release and in any program information directed to parents of participants and potential participants;
- make sure that meals are served to all attending participants, regardless of their race, color, national origin, sex, age, or disability; and
- make sure that all participants have equal access to services and facilities at the site regardless of race, color, national origin, sex, age or disability.

Racial/Ethnic Data

Each year, every sponsor must determine the number of potential eligible participants by racial/ethnic category for the area served. This information may be obtained from census data or public school enrollment data.

The sponsor must also collect racial/ethnic category data each year by racial/ethnic category for each site under the sponsor's jurisdiction. Sponsors of residential camps must collect and maintain this information separately for each session of the camp. For all other sites, the sponsor must count the participants at least once during the site's operation. The sponsor may use visual identification to determine a participant's racial/ethnic category. For collection purposes, a participant may be included in the group to which he or she appears to belong, identifies with, or is regarded as a member of by the community.

The sponsor must retain data, as well as documentation for the data, for the required 3 years. The sponsor must use safeguards to prevent the data from being used for discriminatory purposes. Such safeguards include allowing access to program records containing this data only to authorized personnel. A sample Racial/Ethnic Category Data Form is shown as Attachment 19 in the Reference Section.

Chapter 4 -- Program Payments

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- requirements for requesting advance payments;
- startup payments;
- what sponsors may claim for reimbursement;
- unallowable costs to the program;
- claims for reimbursement; and
- what's considered a non-reimbursable meal.

This chapter discusses the methods and procedures for program payments. These payments are the reimbursement that sponsors receive based on the number of meals they serve that meet SFSP requirements for reimbursement. Sponsors may receive reimbursement for the eligible operating and administrative costs they incur up to authorized reimbursement levels.

Advance Payments (7 CFR 225.9(c))

When sponsors apply for the program, they may request advance payments for their total program costs, for their operating costs, or for their administrative costs. These payments are advances on the reimbursement that sponsors will receive for a month of operations and will be deducted from future reimbursement payments. The advances should help sponsors maintain a positive cash flow because they will have funds available to meet program costs as they arise throughout the month.

Advances for Operating Costs (7 CFR 225.9(c)(1))

Sponsors must request each advance payment for operating costs from the State agency at least 30 days before the payment dates of June 1, July 15, and August 15. If sponsors have participated in last year's program, the advance payments for operating costs will usually be based on the reimbursement they earned during the same month of the previous year. The State agency may also estimate advance payments as a percentage of anticipated costs. The State agency must receive certification that a sponsor (except for school sponsors) has held training sessions on program requirements for site and sponsor personnel before it will release the second month's operating advance to the sponsor. A sponsor may not receive an advance for operating costs in any month when it will not be operating for at least 10 days.

Advances for Administrative Costs (7 CFR 225.9(c)(2))

Sponsors must request each advance payment for administrative costs from the State agency at least 30 days before the payment dates of June 1 and July 15. Before the second month's administrative advance, sponsors must certify that they currently operate the number of sites provided for in the administrative budget, and that no significant change has occurred in their administrative costs since approval of the administrative budget. If sponsors operate the program less than 10 days in June but at least 10 days in August, they will be issued the second month's payment for advance administrative costs on August 15. Sponsors planning to operate the program for less than 10 days cannot receive advance payments for administrative costs.

If the State agency's monitoring or audits reveal that a sponsor may not be able to submit an adequate claim, then the State agency will not send the advance payment for the following month until the sponsor submits a valid claim.

Startup Payments (7 CFR 225.2 definitions and 225.9(a))

The State agency may, at its option, provide the sponsor with a limited amount of startup payments (up to a maximum of 20 percent of the sponsor's approved administrative budget). These startup payments, which are deducted from later administrative reimbursements, are for administrative costs incurred in planning a food service and in establishing effective management procedures for that service. Sponsors may request the startup payments if they are available, when they apply for the program. If approved, the start-up payments may not be provided any earlier than two months before food operations begin.

Program Reimbursement (7 CFR 225.9(d))

Sponsors may claim reimbursement for operating and administrative costs. Any sponsor that receives startup or advance payments for administrative costs must claim administrative costs for reimbursement. Sponsors must maintain complete records to document all costs and meals they claim for reimbursement. (The necessary records are discussed in Part II, Chapter 5 of this guide.)

Reimbursements for Operating Costs (7 CFR 225.2 definitions and FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

Allowable operating costs are those costs incurred by the sponsor for providing and serving meals to eligible participants and program adults. These costs include, but are not limited to, cost of food used, labor, nonfood supplies, and space for the food service.

The amount of reimbursement to you as a sponsor for operating costs will be the lesser of:

- actual net documented operating costs; or
- the number of meals by type actually served to eligible participants multiplied by the appropriate rates of reimbursement for those meals.

The State agency will be able to tell sponsors the current rates of reimbursement.

Reimbursements for Administrative Costs (7 CFR 225.2 definitions and FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

The prorated share of the program's administrative costs are costs incurred by your organization for activities related to planning, organizing, and administering the program.

Payment to you as a sponsor for administrative costs will be the lesser of:

- actual net documented expenses incurred for administrative costs; or
- the number of meals by type actually served to eligible participants multiplied by the administrative rates for those meals; or
- the administrative budget that was approved by the State agency and included in the program agreement, along with any approved amendments to it.

The SFSP has two different levels of administrative reimbursement rates. The higher reimbursement rates are for sponsors of sites that prepare or assemble their own meals and for sponsors of sites located in rural areas. The lower rate is for all other sponsors.

A rural area is any area that is not part of a Metropolitan Statistical Area as defined by the Office of Management and Budget. With the approval of the State agency, an area may be defined as rural if it is a part of a Metropolitan Statistical Area, but is isolated from the urban center. The State agency will be able to provide information on whether sites are considered rural for program purposes.

The current administrative reimbursement rates are available from the State agency.

Camp Reimbursement

(7 CFR 225.9(d)(10) and 225.16(b)(1))

By law, camp sponsors can only be reimbursed for meals served to children who are eligible for free or reduced price meals according to the income guidelines for the National School Lunch and School Breakfast Programs. With State agency approval, camps may claim reimbursement for serving up to three meals or two meals and one snack to eligible children each day. Therefore, a camp may not claim reimbursement for snacks on days that it claims reimbursement for breakfast, lunch, and supper. Alternately, a camp may not claim reimbursement for a third meals on days that it claims a snack for reimbursement.

Camp costs are paid based on the percentage of children served who are eligible for free or reduced price meals. In the past, camps had to first determine what portion of their meals and food service costs were eligible for reimbursement, by computing two different adjustment factors: one enables sponsors to determine the number of reimbursable meals served, and the other enables sponsors to determine the percentage of operating costs that may be claimed for reimbursement based on the total allowable cost of their food service. Camps no longer have to compute these adjustment factors—the Missouri Department of Health and Senior Services' SFSP database computes these factors automatically as claims are processed.

Program Costs

Sponsors may only claim reimbursement for actual documented costs that are directly related to program operation and administration. All funds accruing to the program must be deducted from total costs. Funds accruing to the program include program income and other cash resources which must be used for SFSP purposes. Sources of funds that are earmarked for food service and counted as funds accruing to the program include:

- payment received from food sales to adults when the cost of the adult meal is not deducted from total operating costs;
- cash donations specifically identified for use in the program; and
- any Federal, State or local funds specifically provided to the program.

Unallowable Costs

(FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

Unallowable costs are costs for which program funds may not be disbursed. They include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Bad debts, which are any losses arising from uncollectible accounts and other claims and related costs.
- Repayment of over-claims and other Federal debts.
- Contributions and donations including contingency reserves, USDA donated commodities and other donated food, labor, and supplies.
- Fines or penalties resulting from violations of, or failure to comply with Federal, State, or local laws and regulations.
- Entertainment and fund raising costs.
- Interest on borrowings, bond discounts, costs of financing and refinancing operations, and legal and professional fees paid in connection therewith.
- Costs resulting from an under-recovery of costs under other grant agreements.
- Administrative costs not included in the sponsor's budget as approved.
- Direct capital expenditures or option to purchase rental costs for: acquisition of land or any interest in land; acquisition or construction of buildings or facilities, or the alteration of existing buildings or facilities; non-expendable equipment of any kind; repairs which materially increase the value or useful life of buildings, facilities, or non-expendable equipment; and other capital assets including vehicles.
- Rental costs for periods beyond the close-out date for program operation.

- Cost for excess meals, i.e., meals in excess of legitimate program adult meals and reimbursable meals, unless specifically approved by the State agency.
- Any other costs incurred which program officials determine to be in violation of applicable laws or regulations.
- The cost to purchase food (including coffee, etc.) for use outside of the SFSP.
- The cost of meals served to administrative adult personnel, or any other adults that are not in the operation of the food service.
- Meals served in violation of Program requirements; e.g. meals served outside approved serving time, meals or components consumed off-site, second meals served in excess of the 2% tolerance;
- Cost of spoiled or damaged meals;
- For vended sponsors, the cost of meals delivered by a food service management company to a non-approved site, or for meals not delivered within the agreed upon delivery time, meals served in excess of the approved CAP, spoiled or unwholesome meals, or meals which do not meet meal requirements or quality standards;

Claim for Reimbursement

Sponsors receive their program payments based on claims for reimbursement that they submit to the State agency. Sponsors assume complete responsibility for all of the information they submit on their claims. Claims for reimbursement must only reflect meals that meet SFSP requirements and are actually served to eligible participants during the claiming period, and the actual costs that are associated with those meals. There are four major types of data that sponsors must report on their claim for reimbursement forms:

- Meal Counts -- Based on records that are regularly submitted by the sites, you must report the number and type of first and second meals served to all participants; sponsors of camps need to report the meals served to eligible children only. However, the total number of second meals claimed cannot exceed 2 percent of the number of first meals, for each type of meal served during the claiming period. State agencies can provide further guidance on serving second meals and on those situations where seconds will not be reimbursed. A sample Meal Count Worksheet for Camps is included as Attachment 13 and a sample Consolidation Form for 1st and 2nd Meals is included as Attachment 17.
- Operating Costs -- Based on your operating cost records, you must report the cost of food used, the cost of labor, and the other costs directly incurred in preparing and serving meals.

- Administrative Costs -- Based on your administrative cost records, you must report the costs related to administering the program -the program's share (if those costs are being claimed).
- Program Income -- Based on State agency requirements, you may need to report the amount of money that has accrued to your food service program.

After the reimbursement claim form is completed, as a sponsor you must then sign the form and send it to the State agency as soon as possible within the month following the month covered by the claim. Claims will not be paid if they are submitted more than 60 days after the last day of the month covered by the claim. The State agency may impose a shorter deadline for submission of the claim within the 60-day requirement. Revised claims which reflect an increased reimbursement amount must be submitted within 90 days.

State agencies may allow sponsors to consolidate claims in the following ways:

- 10 days or less in their initial month of operations with the claim for the subsequent month;
- 10 days or less in their final month of operations with the claim from the preceding month; or
- up to 3 consecutive months may be combined, as long as the combined claim only includes 10 days or less from the first and last month of program operations (i.e., a total of 20 extra days).

If you operate for less than 10 days in the final month, you must combine the claim for the final month with the claim for the previous month. This combined claim must be submitted to your State agency within 60 days of your last day of operation.

7 CFR 225.15(a)(3)

Sponsors may not contract out management responsibilities of the Program, including but not limited to the following tasks:

- Meal ordering
- Assuming official recordkeeping responsibilities, including

- meal count information to substantiate claims
- Submitting claims
- Training and monitoring administrative and site staff
- Announcing availability of meals to the news media
- Determining income eligibility and maintaining individual income eligibility statements

Sponsors should check with the State agency before allowing a food service management company to undertake any other tasks that may be considered management functions or any tasks that are related to the bulleted items listed above.

Attachment 22 provides a Potential Reimbursement Worksheet that will help sponsors estimate the amount of reimbursement they can anticipate.

Non-Reimbursable Meals

You may only claim for reimbursement those meals that meet SFSP requirements. Reimbursement may not be claimed for:

- meals not served as a complete unit (except in “offer versus serve” sites where complete meals must be offered to participants);
- meal patterns or types not approved by State agencies;
- meals served at sites not approved by State agencies;
- meals consumed off-site (this does not include a fruit or vegetable that the State agency and sponsor may allow to be taken off-site);
- more than one meal served to a child at a time;
- second meals in excess of 2 percent of the number of first meals served by type during the claiming period;
- meals served outside of approved timeframes or approved dates of operation;
- meals served to ineligible children in camps (those not meeting the income eligibility guidelines for free or reduced price school meals);
- meals that are spoiled or damaged;
- meals in excess of the site's approved level of meal service (cap for vended sponsors);
- meals that were not served; and
- meals served to anyone other than eligible participants.

FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4, Financial Management -- Summer Food Service Program, provides information on establishing standards, principles and guidelines in the development and maintenance of financial management systems. The State agency can provide this information.

Chapter 5 -- Recordkeeping

In this chapter, you will find information on what records to keep for:

- meal counts;
- operating costs;
- administrative costs;
- funds accruing to the program;
- training records;
- visits and reviews; and
- retention of records.

Sponsors must keep full and accurate records so they can substantiate the allowable administrative and operating costs and the number of program meals that they have submitted on each claim for reimbursement.

To justify claims for reimbursement, sponsors must maintain the following records:

- records of meal counts taken daily at each site;
- records of claimed operating costs, including food, and other costs;
- records of claimed administrative costs, including labor and supplies; and
- records of funds accruing to the program.

Meal Counts

All sponsors will use daily site records in order to document the number of program meals they have served to participants. The sponsor must provide all necessary record sheets to the sites. Site supervisors are then responsible for keeping the records each day. The site personnel must complete the records based on actual counts taken at each site for each meal service on each day of operation. Site personnel must be sure that they record all required counts. These counts should include:

- the number of meals delivered or prepared, by type (breakfast, snack, lunch, supper). Vended programs must support this information with a signed delivery receipt. Programs with a central kitchen should also support this information with a signed delivery receipt for good program management. A designated member of the site staff must verify the adequacy and number of meals delivered by checking the meals when they are delivered to the site;
- the number of complete first meals served to participants, by type;
- the number of complete second meals served to participants, by type;
- the number of excess meals or meals leftover;
- the number of nonreimbursable meals;
- the number of meals served to program adults, if any; and
- the number of meals served to non-program adults, if any.

Sponsors should collect these site records at least every week. They may have their monitors pick up site reports on designated days, or the site supervisors may be asked to mail the records to the sponsor's office. When they collect the site records, sponsors should check for the site supervisor's signature. Any sponsor serving vended meals must be sure that the figure entered as the number of meals delivered on the site record is the same as that entered on the vendor's report. If there is any discrepancy between the numbers, the sponsor should immediately contact the vendor and site supervisor and resolve the problem. The sponsor should make a permanent note of the discrepancy as well as the action that was taken to resolve it.

A sample Daily Meal Count Form is included in the Reference Section as Attachment 15. A consolidated (weekly) meal count form is included as Attachment 16.

Operating Costs

(7 CFR 225.2 definitions and FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

Operating costs are allowable costs incurred by the sponsor for preparing and serving meals to eligible participants and program adults. These costs include, but are not limited to, cost of food used, labor, nonfood supplies, and space for the food service. Rural sites may include costs that are directly incurred in transporting participants from rural homes to rural food service sites. All costs must be fully documented and they must represent actual program costs.

Food Costs for Onsite Preparation (FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

The data that are necessary for computing the cost of food used are more extensive when sponsors prepare their own meals onsite or at a central kitchen. Records to support the cost of food used should include, at a minimum:

- receiving reports which record the amount of food received from the supplier;
- purchasing invoices;
- records of any returns, discounts, or other credits not reflected on purchase invoices;
- inventory records that show the kinds of food items on hand at the beginning and end of the inventory period, the quantity of each item, documented major inventory adjustments, and the total value of the beginning and ending inventory; and
- canceled checks or other forms of receipt for payment.

Cost of food used means beginning inventory plus purchases, plus other costs of food, minus credits to costs of food, minus inventory adjustments, minus ending inventory. Sponsors must record the dollar value of food that is unused (ending inventory) at the close of program operations. Sponsors must subtract this ending inventory from all food costs incurred as a result of Program operations.

Food costs cover the cost of purchases and the cost of processing, transporting, storing, and handling food that is donated (including USDA commodities) or purchased by the sponsor. Sponsors cannot charge the program for major reductions of food in stock which are the result of fire, theft, spoilage, contamination, or any event other than normal usage.

Attachment 14 provides a sample inventory form and instructions for sponsors that prepare meals onsite or at a central kitchen.

Food Costs for Vended Programs (FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

The cost of food used means the cost of the preparation or the cost of preparation and delivery of meals charged to the sponsor by the food service management company or the school facility. This cannot include charges for meals delivered to non-approved sites, meals not delivered within the established delivery time, meals that are spoiled or unwholesome, or meals that do not meet the requirements or terms of the contract. The sponsor should not pay the food service management company or school facility for these meals. The sponsor must maintain records that include the signed delivery slips to support the claim for reimbursement. The site supervisor or designated site personnel should check the quantity and wholesomeness of the meals and note any errors/differences on the delivery slip.

Labor Costs (FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

Labor costs include compensation by sponsors for labor that is required to prepare and serve meals, to supervise participants during the meal service, and to clean up after the meal service. These costs may include wages, salaries, employee benefits, and the share of taxes paid by the sponsor. Sponsors must keep accurate time and attendance records for all labor costs that are submitted on the claim for reimbursement. A sample Staff Time Report for food service and site staff is included in the Reference Section as Attachment 24. Attachment 25, Labor Cost Documentation—Food Service is an alternative form. The sponsor may choose the form that works best for its operations.

Other Operating Costs (FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev. 4)

Other operating costs may include, but are not limited to:

- costs of nonfood supplies;
- rental costs for buildings, food service equipment, and vehicles;
- utility costs; and
- mileage allowances.

A sample mileage form for food service and site staff is included in the Reference Section as Attachment 21. If sponsors feel that they may have "other" costs that are not listed, they may contact the State agency for a determination as to whether or not those costs are eligible for reimbursement. Sponsors must keep all records and documentation to support any costs that they claim for reimbursement.

Administrative Costs (7 CFR 225.2 definitions, FNS Instruction 796-4, Rev 4)

Administrative costs are costs incurred by the sponsor for activities related to planning, organizing, and administering the program. Generally, these activities include:

- preparing and submitting an application for participation, including a management plan containing budgets of operating and administrative costs, and staffing and monitoring plans;
- establishing the eligibility of open or restricted open sites by collecting school or census tract data or family size and income forms for closed enrolled sites to determine if 50 percent or more of the participants are eligible;
- for camps, determining the number of children eligible based on a review of family size and income forms;
- attending training provided by the State agency;
- hiring and training site and administrative personnel;
- visiting sites, reviewing and monitoring operations at sites, and documenting these visits and reviews;
- preparing and submitting a plan for and synopsis of the invitation to bid when the sponsor wants to contract with a food service management company;
- preparing and submitting claims for reimbursement; and
- performing other activities that are necessary for planning, organizing, and managing the program.

Generally, costs incurred for these activities are:

- labor costs for administrative activities;
- rental costs for offices, office equipment, and vehicles;
- vehicle allowance and parking expenses;
- office supplies;
- communications;
- insurance and indemnification;
- audits; and
- travel.

Maintaining Records of Costs (7 CFR 225.15(c))

You must be certain that you have records that document the amount and purpose of all administrative costs you claim. For example, you must keep time and attendance records -among other things- to document labor costs.

Attachments 21, 23, and 26 are sample forms for tracking administrative costs. Attachment 21 is a sample form for administrative staff (including monitors) to use in keeping track of mileage, Attachment 23 tracks administrative staff hours worked, and Attachment 26 is a sample form for summarizing all administrative costs.

Funds Accruing to the Program

Funds accruing to the food service include all funds received from Federal, State, local, and other sources, except for program advances, startup funds, or reimbursement payments received from the State agency. These funds must be designated specifically for the Summer Food Service Program. Records reflecting income may include:

- deposit records;
- voucher stubs; or
- receipts.

Training

You must keep records that document:

- the date(s) of training for site and administrative personnel;
- the attendance at each training session by having all attendees sign an attendance form; and
- the topics covered at each training session.

Sponsors that have requested advance payments for operating costs must send certification that they have completed training for site and administrative personnel to the State agency. Without this certification, the State agency will not release the second advance payment for operating costs to the sponsor. This requirement, however, does not apply to school sponsors (7 CFR 225.9(c)(1)).

Visits (7 CFR 225.14(c)(6) and 225.15 (d)(2) and (3))

Sponsors must be able to document that they have met their monitoring requirements. Monitors must submit a report for:

- pre-operational site visits;
- site visits during the first week of program operations; and
- site visits throughout the summer.

A sample Pre-Operational/First Week Site Visit Form is included as Attachment 27 in the Reference Section.

Reviews (7 CFR 225.15(d)(3))

Monitors must submit a review report form for each site review during the first 4 weeks of program operations, and for site reviews throughout the summer. This form will contain much of the same information as the Site Visit Form plus information concerning meal preparation and delivery schedules, the quality of site records and record-keeping, the regular adjustment of meal orders, and whether changes are made in menus. Sample Site Review Forms for Self-Preparation Programs and for Vended Programs are included in the Reference Section as Attachments 28 and 29.

Checklist of Records

There are a number of additional records you must maintain in your files. These records and the records discussed in this chapter are summarized in Attachment 20 -- Checklist of Records.

Retention of Records (7 CFR 225.8(a))

As a sponsor, you must maintain all records for 3 years following the submission date of the final claim for reimbursement for the fiscal year, or longer if required by the State agency. These records must be accessible to Federal and State agency personnel for audit and review purposes. Further, these records can only be disposed of if there are no unresolved audit findings or the program is not under investigation.

Chapter 6 -- Administrative Reviews

In this chapter, you will find information on:

- review procedures and statistical monitoring;
- violations of program requirements; and
- how to create a corrective action plan.

During the course of the summer, State agencies will complete an administrative review of most sponsors' program operations. This administrative review will involve visits by State agency personnel to the sponsor's site(s) and office. The reviews are designed to ensure that a sponsor's overall program is operating according to requirements and to provide assistance and advice to a sponsor if there are questions about program operations.

Review Procedures (7 CFR 225.7(d)(2))

A State agency review of site operations should involve observing the meal service operations and the record-keeping at the site. A review at the sponsor level should involve a review of how the claim for reimbursement is assembled and a review of the records maintained by the sponsor. Regardless of the specific administrative review procedures, all sponsors must make their records available for the State agency's review and must proceed with the corrective actions recommended by the State agency, if there are any. The results of an administrative review may affect the amount of reimbursement a sponsor will receive.

Statistical Monitoring (7 CFR 225.7(d)(8))

The State agency may elect to use statistical monitoring procedures when it conducts administrative reviews of sponsors. The State agency may use the results of statistical monitoring to determine the sponsor's reimbursement. The State agency will inform the sponsor if it plans to use statistical monitoring and will provide the sponsor with the necessary information on its procedures for conducting statistical monitoring. The State agency can provide additional information on the use of statistical monitoring.

Violations (7 CFR 225.11(c)(1), (2), (3),(4))

Violations of program requirements may result in withholding or recovering reimbursement, temporary suspension, or termination and exclusion from future program participation.

Violations include but are not limited to:

- Noncompliance with the time requirements between meals.
- Failure to maintain adequate site or sponsor records.
- Failure to adjust meal orders to conform with changes in site attendance.
- Failure to have trained site supervisor at each site during the meal service.
- Serving more than one meal to a child at one time.
- Participants eating complete meals off-site (Note: This does not refer to the permissible practice of allowing participants to take a piece of fruit or vegetable off-site.)
- Claiming meals served to anyone other than eligible participants.
- Serving meals (or in the case of OVS sites, offering meals) that do not include all required meal components and/or correct quantities.
- Failure to report sites to health department.
- Continued use of food service management companies that violate health codes.
- Submission of false information to the State agency.
- Failure to return excess payments to the State agency.
- Not adhering to competitive bid procedures.
- Noncompliance with civil rights laws and regulations.

Corrective Action Plan (7 CFR 225.11(f))

When the State agency finds violations during a site review, it will require the sponsor to correct the problems found. If the State agency finds a high level of meal service violations at a site, it will immediately require the sponsor to follow a specific corrective action plan. The State agency will initiate a follow-up system to ensure that sponsors take specific action(s) as outlined in the plan for correcting violations.

Chapter 7 -- Post Program Evaluation

Upon the completion of the local program, the sponsor should prepare an evaluation. The following format is suggested for these evaluations:

- Sponsor personnel -- evaluate the size and efficiency of the staff.
- Site personnel -- evaluate the ability of site personnel to control and supervise the program at the site level.
- Food preparation -- evaluate the major facets of food preparation as well as the quality and variety of foods offered within meal requirements, special meals and plate waste.
- Activities -- evaluate the activities at the site.
- Organization -- evaluate the administrative structure of the organization.
- State agency or FNS regional office -- evaluate the relationship between the sponsoring agency and the State agency, noting the adequacy of training efforts and the availability of guidance, information, and assistance.

Chapter 8 – Questions and Answers

1. Once I'm approved to operate the program what are my training responsibilities?

Training is one of the sponsor's major administrative responsibilities. A smoothly operating program will require that training be provided by sponsors throughout the summer. A comprehensive training effort, including weekly or biweekly meetings on program requirements, will help to make certain the monitor, site and administrative personnel are performing according to program regulations. Sponsors should attend State agency training and then train both their administrative and site personnel before these staff members undertake responsibilities. SFSP regulations require that no food service site may operate until personnel at the site have attended at least one of the sponsor's training sessions.

2. What are my monitoring requirements for the SFSP?

An efficient and capable monitoring staff is essential for any sponsor's program to be successful. Monitors must ensure that the site operates the Program according to program guidelines. This requires a pre-operational visit which is conducted before a site operates the SFSP. These visits are required for all sites to determine that the sites have the facilities to provide meal service for the anticipated number of participants in attendance. Also, a sponsor must visit all sites at least once during the first week of operation to make sure the food service operation is running smoothly and to verify information such as the site address, storage, holding and preparation facilities, and serving capabilities. Further, sponsors must conduct site reviews at least once during the first 4 weeks of program operations to observe delivery or preparation of meals, service of meals, participants eating the meals, and clean up after meals.

3. What are my civil right requirements?

All participating sponsors must inform potential beneficiaries, particularly minorities, of the availability of the SFSP. Sponsors are required to display the nondiscrimination poster in a prominent place at the site and the sponsor's office. Also sponsors need to make program information available to the public, make reasonable efforts to provide information in the appropriate translations and include the nondiscrimination statement and instructions for filing a complaint. In addition, make sure meals are served to all attending, eligible participants regardless of race, color, national origin, sex, age or disability and make sure all participants have equal access to services and facilities. Further, all sponsors must collect beneficiary data each year by racial/ethnic category for each site under the sponsor's jurisdiction.

4. Will I be reimbursed for any of my costs associated with running the SFSP?

You receive program payments for both the operational and administrative costs of running a program. Operating costs are allowable costs incurred by your organization for providing and serving meals to eligible participants and program adults. These costs include food consumed, labor, non-food supplies, and space for the food service. Administrative costs are costs incurred by your organization for activities related to planning, organizing, and administering the program. The amount of reimbursement you receive is an amount equal to the number of eligible meals served to participants, multiplied by the current rates of reimbursement or your actual costs, whichever is less.

5. How do I receive my reimbursement?

Reimbursement is based on claims for reimbursement that you submit to your State agency. Claims for reimbursement reflect meals that meet SFSP requirements and are served to eligible participants during the claiming period, and the actual costs that are associated with those meals. The type of data that sponsors must report on their claim for reimbursement forms are meals counts, operating costs, administrative costs and program income. Claims must be submitted to your State agency within 60 days after the operating month.

6. Can I request an advance payment from the State agency?

Yes. When sponsors apply for the program they may request advance payments for their total program costs, for their operating costs, or for their administrative costs. These payments will be advances on the reimbursement you will receive for a month of operation and will be deducted from future reimbursement payments. The advances will help you maintain a positive cash flow because you will have funds available to meet program costs as they arise throughout the month.

7. What type of records do I need to keep for the program?

To substantiate your claim for reimbursement, you will need to keep all records of meal counts taken daily at each site, records of claimed operating costs including food and other costs, records of claimed administrative costs including labor and supplies, and records of funds accruing to the program. In addition, records need to be maintained that document the training you have provided for your site and administrative personnel and records that document you have met your monitoring requirements. Additional records that need to be maintained would be any records that document your eligibility for the SFSP such as the application to participate in the SFSP and the signed agreement with the State agency.

8. How long am I required to maintain these records?

You must maintain all records for 3 years following the submission date of the final claim for reimbursement, or longer if required by your State agency. For audit and review purposes these records will need to be made available upon request to Federal and State agency personnel. Further, records can only be disposed of if there are no unresolved audit findings or the program is not under investigation.

9. Will my program be reviewed by the State agency?

You will probably receive an administrative review by the State agency or FNS Regional Office during the course of your operation, which will include both your office and at least one site. You must make your records available for the State agency reviewer and must take any corrective actions required by the State agency. Results of an administrative review may affect the amount of reimbursement your program will receive. The review may involve assessing how the claim for reimbursement is prepared and looking at the records your organization maintains. It will also include a look at site operations to observe the meal service operation and recordkeeping.

PART III – REFERENCE SECTION

Definitions of Program Terms from the SFSP Federal Regulations
7 CFR 225.2 Definitions

Act means the National School Lunch Act, as amended.

Administrative costs means costs incurred by a sponsor related to planning, organizing, and managing a food service under the Program, and excluding interest costs and operating costs.

Adult means, for the purposes of the collection of social security numbers as a condition of eligibility for Program meals, any individual 21 years of age or older.

Advance payments means financial assistance made available to a sponsor for its operating costs and/or administrative costs prior to the end of the month in which such costs will be incurred.

Areas in which poor economic conditions exist means:

(a) The local areas from which an open site and restricted open site draw their attendance in which at least 50 percent of the children are eligible for free or reduced price school meals under the National School Lunch Program and the School Breakfast Program, as determined:

- (1) By information provided from departments of welfare, education, zoning commissions, census tracts, and organizations determined by the State agency to be migrant organizations;
- (2) By the number of free and reduced price lunches or breakfasts served to children attending public and nonprofit private schools located in the areas of Program sites; or
- (3) From other appropriate sources; or

(b) A closed enrolled site.

INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING THE INCOME ELIGIBILITY FORM (APPLICATION FOR FREE MEALS CACFP-1004)

1. The first and last name of the child(ren) enrolled in the camp or enrolled site must be listed in section 1 of the Income Eligibility Form (IEF). Check the appropriate box if the child is a foster child.

If the parent or guardian checks that the child(ren) are receiving food stamps or Temporary Assistance (TA) and enters the food stamp or TA case number, the child(ren) are automatically eligible for SFSP reimbursement and the parent does not need to complete section 2.

Food stamp number and TA case numbers are an eight (8) digit number. This may or may not be preceded by a three digit county code.

At a minimum, the eight digit portion of the case number must be provided on the IEF for the child to be automatically eligible for reimbursement. If the full eight digit number is not provided, the child may not be claimed unless section 2 (Household Income) is completed and the social security number is provided.

2. If a parent or guardian does not report a food stamp or TA case number in section 1, then they must complete all entries in section 2 to determine eligibility.

List all other household members besides the children listed in section 1. A household is defined as a group of related or non-related individuals who are not residents of an institution or a boarding house, but who are living as one economic group.

For each household member, indicate monthly income by source of current gross income before any deductions are made. Current income is defined as income received during the month prior to the application. If the prior month's income is not representative of the household's annual rate of income, the household should report projected annual income.

3. Identify the racial/ethnic category of the child. Completion of this information is not mandatory and the failure to complete this information shall not affect the eligibility of the child.
4. The adult household member completing the IEF must attest to the fact that the information provided is correct, that it is being given in connection with the receipt of federal funds, that it is subject to verification and that the deliberate misrepresentation of facts will subject the individual to prosecution under applicable state and federal statutes. If all children enrolled in the camp or enrolled program are not TA or food stamp recipients, the adult signing the application must provide a social security number. If the adult does not have a social security number, "none" should be written in the space provided.
5. The adult household member must provide a signature, date, address, telephone number and printed name. The IEF can not be approved unless the form is signed and dated by the parent or guardian.
6. The parent/guardian must fully complete the IEF. Sponsor personnel shall complete only the section labeled "For Sponsor Use Only." The IEF is effective from the date the sponsor representative signs and dates the form.
7. Each parent/guardian shall be given the parent/guardian letter and IEF form on a yearly basis. If the parent does not return the completed form, the child is ineligible to receive program benefits.

* A foster child is a ward of the court or welfare agency placed in residence in a private household. Since the court or agency retains legal responsibility for such a child, the foster home is, in fact, an extension of that agency and the foster child is considered a family of one. As such, a foster child should be indicated as a household of one.

Income for a foster child would include:

- a. Funds received from a welfare agency which can be identified for the personal use of the child. When funds provided by the welfare agency are specified by category, i.e., only those funds that can be identified as personal use funds shall be considered as income. When such funds cannot be identified, no portion of the funds provided by the agency shall be considered as income.
- b. Money received in hand from any source. This includes, but is not limited to, funds received from trust accounts, monies provided by the child's family for personal use, and earnings from employment other than occasional or part-time jobs.

A child who is not legally designated as a foster child by virtue of being an official ward of the court and/or welfare agency, does not qualify as a "foster child" for purposes of the SFSP. Such children are considered part of the entire family economic unit for purposes of determining eligibility in the SFSP.

Instructions for Completing the Meal Count Record for Camps

Enter the sponsor name, site name, and supervisor.

- ⇒ Enter the date.
- ⇒ List all of the children enrolled in the camp program in the Participant's Name column (preferably in alphabetical order). All children should be listed, including those who do not qualify for free meals, so that there is no overt identification of the children who do qualify for free meals.
- ⇒ For each meal served, place a check mark under the appropriate meal type for each child. If a child is not served a particular meal, the box should be left blank.
- ⇒ Enter the total number of meals served to eligible children. This number will be the sum of the check marks under each meal type each day for the children who qualify for free meals.
- ⇒ Enter the total number of program adult meals served and the total number of non-program adult meals served at each meal service.
- ⇒ Enter the total number of meals served to non-eligible children (those who do not qualify for free meals).
- ⇒ Add the total number of meals served. This includes meals served to eligible children, meals served to program adults, non-program adults, and non-eligible children.

Note: The meal count record for camps must be completed at the time of the meal service. Sponsor personnel must physically count the children eating at each meal.

Total Value of Food on Hand
(Ending Inventory¹) $_____

¹The ending Inventory for one inventory period becomes the Beginning Inventory for the next.

²Use purchase invoices to determine the cost per purchase unit and the total food purchases for the inventory period.

Instructions for Completing the Food Inventory Record

Inventory records are required for sponsors who prepare their own meals. Meals may be prepared at each site or they may be prepared in a central kitchen and delivered to each site. An inventory must be completed prior to operating the SFSP and must be done again immediately after operating the SFSP. Any number of inventories may be done in the time between.

- ⇒ Enter the name of the site. If meals are prepared in a central kitchen, enter the name and address of the kitchen.
- ⇒ Enter the date that the inventory is taken.
- ⇒ Enter the dollar value of the beginning inventory. The beginning inventory is the last ending inventory. If this is the first inventory completed prior to program operations, enter the dollar value of food on hand as the beginning inventory.
- ⇒ In column A, list the food items on hand at the time of the inventory.
- ⇒ In column B, enter the purchase units of each food item. Purchase units are the way that foods are purchased. For example, meat products are typically purchased by the pound, therefore, the purchase unit would be one pound. Canned goods, on the other hand, may come in several purchase units. These could be 15 or 16 ounce cans (#303), 29 or 30 ounce cans (2 ½), or institutional size cans (#10), or they may be purchased by the case. Check labels and purchase invoices carefully to enter the correct purchase unit.
- ⇒ In column C, enter the cost of each food item per purchase unit.
- ⇒ In column D, enter the total number of purchase units on hand.
- ⇒ In column E, enter the total dollar value of food on hand. This may be obtained by multiplying the cost per purchase unit (column C) by the quantity on hand (column D).
- ⇒ Add all of the entries in column E to calculate the Total Value of Food on Hand. This dollar amount becomes your ending inventory for this period and your beginning inventory for the next period.

To obtain Food Costs for the Inventory Period:

- ⇒ Enter the beginning inventory amount.
- ⇒ Add to the beginning inventory amount the total cost of all food purchased for the period. This information may be obtained from purchase invoices and cash register receipts.
- ⇒ Subtract the dollar amount of the ending inventory. Also subtract any discounts or credits received during the inventory period.
- ⇒ The amount remaining is equal to the cost of food used for the inventory period.

At a minimum, columns B, D, F, and H must be completed.

Instructions for Completing the Food Production Record

- ⇒ Enter sponsor name, site name and date at the top of the form.
- ⇒ Under column B, list all food items used at each meal service (breakfast, lunch/supper, or snack).
- ⇒ Under column C, list the serving size or portion used of each of the food items.
- ⇒ Under column D, enter the purchase unit for each food item listed in column B. A purchase unit is the way food is purchased. For example, most meat items are usually purchased by the pound. Therefore, the purchase unit is one pound. Canned foods may be purchased in different sizes, such as a 15 or 16 ounce can (#303), a 29 or 30 ounce can, or an institutional size (#10) can. Check can and package sizes carefully and enter the correct purchase unit.
- ⇒ For column E, the number of servings per purchase unit, you must have a Food Buying Guide available. The Food Buying Guide will give you the number of servings available in each purchase unit of commonly purchased foods.

For example, if you look in the Food Buying Guide for applesauce, it will show you that there are 7 one-quarter cup servings in one 16-ounce can, and there are 47.6 one-quarter cup servings in one #10 can. The amount that you will enter on this line will depend on your purchase unit.

You must also be aware of your serving size. If, in the above applesauce example, your serving size is $\frac{1}{2}$ cup instead of $\frac{1}{4}$ cup, you will have to divide the number of $\frac{1}{4}$ cup servings per purchase unit by 2 to determine the number of $\frac{1}{2}$ cup servings. For example, $47.6 \div 2 = 23.8$ one-half cup servings per #10 can.

For a food item such as ground beef, you will note in the Food Buying Guide that there are 11.2 one ounce servings of cooked lean meat per pound of raw purchased. The Food Buying Guide takes into account losses that occur during the cooking process. However, since the SFSP meal pattern requires two ounces of cooked lean meat per child, you must divide 11.2 by 2 to come up with the number of two-ounce servings per pound of raw meat. There are 5.6 two-ounce servings of cooked lean meat per pound of raw ground beef.

- ⇒ Under column F, you will fill in the number of purchase units actually used. If, for example, you use 11 pounds of ground beef, you would write 11 in this column.
- ⇒ To determine the total number of servings prepared (column G), you simply multiply column E by column F. For example, $5.6 \text{ two-ounce servings of cooked ground beef per pound} \times 11 \text{ pounds} = 61.6 \text{ two ounce servings}$ ($5.6 \times 11 = 61.6$). If this number is more than the actual number of children and adults served (column H), then you have prepared adequate amounts of food. If the number is less, then you did not meet minimum meal requirements for the meal. You must increase the amount of food prepared the next time.

It is also possible to determine beforehand how much food you will need to prepare by first entering your food items and serving sizes and then entering the total number of servings you wish to prepare (column G). Look in the Food Buying Guide to determine the number of servings per purchase unit (column E), and then divide the total number of servings you wish to prepare by the number of servings per purchase unit (G divided by E). The result will tell you how many purchase units you will need to use (column F).

For example, you wish to prepare 48 (column F) two-ounce servings (column C) of baked boneless ham (column B). By looking in the Food Buying Guide, you determine that there are 10 one-ounce servings of cooked lean meat per pound. Since your serving size is two ounces, you must divide 10 by 2 to determine that there are 5 two-ounce servings of cooked lean meat per pound (column E). To determine the total number of pounds of raw ham needed to make 48 servings, simply divide 48 by 5 (G divided by E). You would need to prepare 9.6 pounds of raw ham.
